IMPORTANT: 9:00pm Rule- The auction will close for initial bidders at 9PM EST on June 22, 2005. If you have not placed a bid on an open lot prior to 9pm EST you will be ineligible to bid on said lot after 9pm. However, any unopened lot can be bid on after 9pm. If you are the only bidder on a lot after 9pm, you will instantly become the winning bidder. Grey Flannel Auctions reserves the right to extend this rule for any reason. For ongoing lots after 9pm EST the 10-minute rule will be applied, meaning the auction will not end until the phone stops ringing for 10 minutes.

INTRODUCTION

Dear Bidder,

Grey Flannel Auctions is proud to offer in our Summer Games 2005 auction, an impressive array of quality memorabilia, not only from a wide variety of sports, but also from the performing arts and Americana. To those of you who have never visited our showroom in Westhampton Beach, New York, we warmly extend an invitation to visit us and inspect the incredible memorabilia presented in this catalogue. We realize this is not always possible, and to those bidders who cannot visit our facility, you can rest assured that each and every lot in this auction is genuine and authentic in all respects. Our commitment to authentication for over a decade has earned us the reputation as "The Standard of the Industry." We are the official appraisers and authenticators for the Naismith Memorial Basketball Hall of Fame, and Sotheby's chose us to authenticate the largest and most important baseball uniform collection ever to come up for auction, the Barry Halper collection.

Except in very few instances can the provenance of game-used items and autographed items be definitely traced and attributed to an athlete or individual, even when a letter from a team is provided. The following paragraphs discuss the processes used by Grey Flannel Auctions to authenticate lots in our auction. As a result of those processes, based on the information available to Grey Flannel Auctions, we are very comfortable in stating that "in our opinion" the items in our auction are authentic. Therefore, every lot in this auction will be sold "As Is", no exceptions.

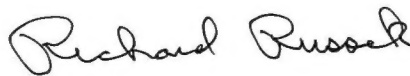

The experts at Grey Flannel; Keith Vari, Andy Imperato and Richard Russek, have carefully examined every game-used uniform in this auction. In addition, to avoid any appearance of conflicts of interest, we have retained Joe DeMattio, Pat Catello and Nick Coppola, all recognized uniform experts in the hobby, to examine these uniforms as well. Milt Byron, the most recognized game-used hockey jersey expert, has thoroughly inspected every hockey jersey and each will come with his letter. It is understood that every game-used jersey will come with a letter of opinion from Grey Flannel with the exception of lots containing multiple jerseys, as well as jackets, shoes, gloves, pants, caps, helmets, etc. Lots containing multiple bats will be accompanied by one PSA/DNA letter. We will note in the lot descriptions if other letters come in addition to ours.

As to the most controversial and vulnerable area of all, autographs, we have taken great measures to protect our clients. We have used the services of respected experts, James Spence, Steve Grad, Zach Rullo and Jeremy Kraft of PSA/DNA. In every lot featuring an item that is autographed, each expert looked at the item independently. With every autographed lot, if any one of our experts were uncomfortable with an item, we removed it from the auction. This was NOT a majority vote. Every autographed lot in this auction will come with a PSA/DNA letter. Please note that "CH" within a lot description means an expert has determined it to be of Clubhouse variety. Each and every game-used bat was inspected and approved by our very own John Taube and Vince Malta, author of "Bats", as well as our own Keith Vari. It is understood that every game-used bat will come with a Grey Flannel/PSA/DNA letter of authenticity from recognized industry experts, John Taube and Vince Malta. In all other cases when there is no letter of authenticity, your invoice shall act as our letter of authenticity.

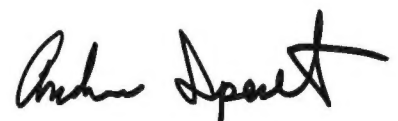

Sincerely,

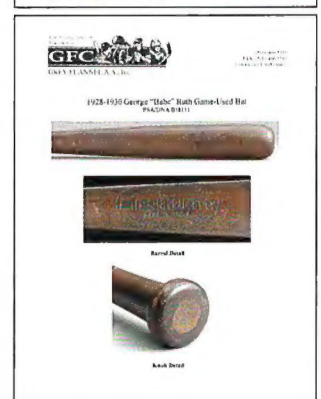

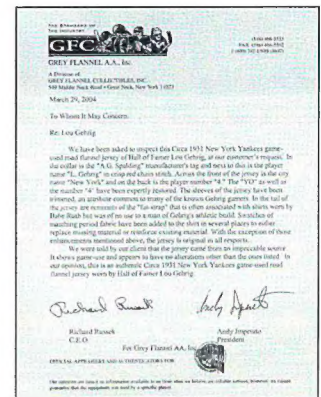

Howard Rosenkrantz

BIDDER INSTRUCTIONS

Bidder Registration– In order to bid in this auction you need to have a bidder number. You may obtain a bidder number by calling (631) 288-7800 ext. 223 during our regular business hours. You will be asked to give two hobby references at the time of your registration. If you cannot supply these references, then Grey Flannel Auctions may ask you questions regarding your credit. You will need to register only once, and this will give you a permanent bidder number for Grey Flannel Auctions. Please call to register before 6:00 p.m. EST June 22, 2005. After this time, we will register no more bidders, with no exceptions. To bid by fax, please fill out the "Fax Bid" form in this catalogue. Placing a bid constitutes acceptance of Grey Flannel Auctions' rules and Grey Flannel Auctions has the final say in interpreting all rules.

Submitting Bids– Bidding begins immediately by phone, online, or fax. We are interactive online at www.greyflannelauctions.com for this auction. Please check our web site for instructions. Faxed bids will be accepted at (631) 288-7820. No faxed bids will be accepted after 11:00 p.m. the night of the auction. No e-mail bids will be accepted. No lot will be closed until the entire auction is over. Please do not ask for an exception to these rules.

9:00pm Rule– The auction will close for initial bidders at 9PM EST on June 22, 2005. If you have not placed a bid on an open lot prior to 9pm EST you will be ineligible to bid on said lot after 9pm. However, any unopened lot can be bid on after 9pm. If you are the only bidder on a lot after 9pm, you will instantly become the winning bidder. Grey Flannel Auctions reserves the right to extend this rule for any reason. For ongoing lots after 9pm EST the 10-minute rule will be applied, meaning the auction will not end until the phone stops ringing for 10 minutes.

Minimum Bid Increase– 10% minimum increase, in whole dollar amounts. There will be no exceptions. Please see Ceiling Bids.

Buyer's Premium– All winning bids will have a 17-1/2% buyer's premium added to the final hammer price. (Example: Your final bid is $1,000. A $175 buyer's premium will be added to your final bid.) All bidders must pay buyer's premiums; no exceptions.

Sales Tax– All State of New York residents will pay sales tax. Since each county is different, the appropriate tax will be included in your final invoice. New York State dealers: if you have a resale number, please make sure that we have it on file or you will pay sales tax.

Ceiling Bids– Ceiling bids are simply the highest dollar amount that you would empower Grey Flannel to bid on your behalf for a particular lot. Grey Flannel Auctions strongly encourages you as the bidder to place ceiling bids. This is the easiest and most efficient way to ensure that you get the best possible chance to win your desired auction lot. Ceiling bids are kept in the strictest confidence. First, to place a ceiling bid, it needs to be a minimum of 21% higher than the high bid, which must be your last bid. (Example: Your new bid is $1,000, and the minimum ceiling bid that can be placed is therefore $1,210). Also, Grey Flannel Auctions reserves the right to raise your ceiling bid by a maximum of 10%. (Example: Your ceiling bid is $1,000 and the current bid is $950; we will raise your ceiling bid to $1,045). This ensures that no ceiling bidder will be outbid by less than 10%. If the same ceiling bid is placed on a lot by two or more bidders, the bidder who placed the ceiling bid first will have first priority to that bid amount.

Call Back Service (Premier Lots)– Grey Flannel Auctions will provide a Call Back Service for this auction's Premier Lots only. In order to receive this service, you must bid on that item prior to 9:00 p.m. on June 22nd, and request the Call Back service at that time. There is no Call Back Service on non-Premier lots. We strongly recommend that those bidders (of non-Premier Lots) place ceiling bids and check our web site for the current high bids.

Invoices/Notification– Invoices will be mailed to all winning bidders in the days following the conclusion of the auction. Payment is expected upon receipt of the invoice date. Please do not call to see if you won a particular lot. Auction results will be posted on our web site (www.greyflannelauctions.com) at the conclusion of the auction.

Payments– Cashier's check, money order, or bank transfer are the preferred methods of payment. These payment methods will allow us to process your items as quickly as possible. Payment by personal or company check will be held for a minimum of 10 business days to clear – no exceptions, please do not ask. No special payment arrangements are available without previous approval by our credit department. Grey Flannel does not accept credit cards as a method of payment.

Reserves– Please be advised that in a few instances the actual reserve is higher than that published.

Disclaimer– Grey Flannel Auctions is not responsible for computer or human error which may result in any customer dissatisfaction. We reserve the right to accept or reject any and all bids or bidders.

Premier Lots– Grey Flannel Auction's Premier Lots for the Summer Games 2005 auction are listed below and are also identified by the wording "PREMIER LOT" as well as by the logo at right. Register in advance with our credit department before bidding on these items. Our credit department must be satisfied with the bidder's ability to pay. Once approval to bid is granted, you may bid on any Premier Lot up to the amount of your approved line of credit. The Premier Lots are as follows:

Shipping- The buyer is responsible for all shipping and insurance costs. Most lots will be shipped via Fedex. This cost will be reflected on your auction invoice. If you need expedited shipping, please call when you receive your invoice so we can make the appropriate shipping adjustments. All international orders will be processed in the full invoice amount, no exceptions. The buyer is responsible for all duty and customs charges. Remember, there are many oversized pieces in this auction that need to be specially packaged. The buyer is also responsible for these packaging costs. Grey Flannel Auctions is not in the business to make a profit on shipping; we would just like to recoup our costs in shipping your items to you as best as possible. Any item may be picked up in person at our office after funds are cleared.

Return Policy- ALL LOTS ARE SOLD AS IS. ALL SALES ARE FINAL. NO RETURNS. Each and every lot in this auction has been viewed by a minimum of two hobby experts. Please refer to our introductory letter on Page 4.

Viewing of Lots- Lots can be viewed at the Grey Flannel Auctions showroom, located at 8 Moniebogue Lane in Westhampton Beach, New York, during regular business hours. We strongly recommend that you make an appointment at least two days in advance. There will be no appointments taken on actual auction days.

Comparative photographic analysis of why most experts deem lot 1 to be the "called shot" jersey.

Lot 1

1932 Babe Ruth New York Yankees
Game-Used Road Flannel Jersey Attributed To The
"Called Shot" In The World Series

A full-length photograph of a light-colored, short-sleeved flannel baseball jersey. The jersey is displayed on a mannequin. The words "NEW YORK" are printed in large, bold, black, sans-serif capital letters across the chest. The jersey has a button-down front with visible buttons. The sleeves have simple hemmed cuffs. The fabric appears to be a heavy flannel.

While the list of possible anecdotes is endless, it is impossible to accurately portray on paper the legend that is Babe Ruth. The ultimate embodiment of the American dream, this saloon keeper's son went from reform school to icon of the first order and in the process changed forever our national pastime.

A short recap of the 1932 season, the year to which this uniform dates, is surely in order. Playing in 133 games of the 1932 season, Ruth compiled an impressive .341 batting average and for the eleventh time in his career surpassed the 40 home run mark. He placed in the highest percentiles of no fewer than 10 prominent statistical categories including home runs, batting average, runs, on base percentage, and total bases. For the seventh time as a member of the New York Yankees he took the team to the World Series and summarily led them to a World Championship. His batting average of .333 in that Fall Classic can only be overshadowed by the legendary "called shot" in Game 3.

After having already hit a home run earlier in Game 3 of the 1932 World Series, Ruth came to the plate in the fifth inning to face Cubs pitcher Charlie Root. Amidst the jeers of the crowd and a count of two and two, Ruth allegedly stepped out of the batter's box and pointed to the center-field stands, "calling his shot." On the next pitch, Ruth slammed a home run into the bleachers, directly above the spot he had purportedly indicated. The world may never know if he really called his shot, but the legend remains one of the most famous moments in baseball history during the game's "golden age."

The uniform offered herein represents the only completely original, unaltered example of a Ruth jersey ever brought to public auction. Originally obtained 15 years ago by one of the founding partners of Grey Flannel who accompanied an older lady on the west coast of Florida to a safety deposit box where it had been stored for years. An avid golfer, Ruth spent much time on the links and this uniform was given by the Babe to this lady's father after losing a round of golf to him.

This jersey will come with several LOAs. Every expert is in agreement that this jersey is authentic and 100% original in every respect. The majority of these experts deem this to be the "called shot" jersey. Not one of these experts can definitively say that it is not Babe Ruth's 1932 World Series jersey. An informative package detailing our photographic research and empirical evidence is available to qualified bidders and the media upon request.

Mark Okkonen, author of the definitive book on baseball uniforms, states, "Based on the photo evidence you provided, I have every reason to believe the Babe Ruth road jersey in your possession does indeed represent the 1932 season and had to have been worn by the Bambino when he connected with his famous "called shot" home run in the 1932 World Series at Chicago. To the best of my knowledge the team did not issue a second set of road uniforms and the very subtle differences in the placement and configuration of the "NEW YORK" letters match the photographs provided. If I were in a position to purchase this item with the provenance claimed for it I would not hesitate a minute. Although there appears to be no such thing as 100% proof, it certainly seems impossible that anyone could prove this was not the jersey worn on this historic occasion based on the photos you have found to support this claim. It looks like you have a "slam dunk" on this one!"

Based on a most stringent examination of photographic evidence, the jersey appears to replicate the unique idiosyncrasies of all known 1932 road jerseys. The position of "New York" across the front of this Ruthian-sized road jersey matches the known 1932 positioning. Group and individual photos of the 1932 Yankees show the same positioning of the "New York" block letters in relation to the buttons. The spacing and the style of the letters is consistent across all the 1932 road jerseys. Further, the curvature of the "W," the skew of the "E" and the positioning of the "Y" on this jersey in most experts' opinions matches known photos of Ruth in the 1932 World Series, and differs from other examples of known Yankee road jerseys.

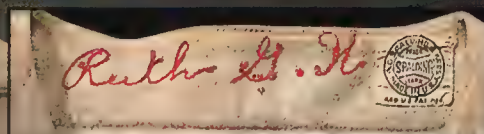

In the collar is the player name "Ruth G.H." in red chain stitch which also appears to match a known 1932 home Ruth jersey. Also present is the "A.G. Spalding" manufacturer's label. Across the front of the jersey is the team name "New York" and on the back is a matching player number "3." Both the letters and numbers are done in blue felt. A small sewing imperfection can be found on the back number, only mentioned to avoid inaccuracy. In the back tail is remnant of the so-called "fat strap" used by Ruth to insure that the jersey remained tucked in, necessitated by his girth at that point. It was a long length of material that Ruth would draw up between his legs and tie into two custom buttonholes, which are present at front bottom. There is a small hole on the left rear shoulder which occurred a few years ago during the handling of the jersey. The flannel shows perfectly fitting use throughout and is in a remarkable state of preservation. Reserve $400,000

PUTTIN' ON THE STRIPES

Circa 1932 Babe Ruth New York Yankees Game-Used Road Flannel Pants

These Ruth pants were found in the bank vault with the jersey attributed to the "called shot" in the previous lot. Due to the nature of baseball pants, there are no numbers or other lettering visible on the exterior and therefore all but impossible to photo match. As they were found with the jersey, we presume that these pants are the ones worn by Ruth when hitting that infamous home run. At the very least, these are indeed a pair of Babe Ruth game-used pants. In the waistband is the player name "Babe Ruth" in red chain stitch. The waist measures approximately 44 inches. Also present is the "A. G. Spalding" manufacturer's label. Customary of other Ruth game pants that are known, the pant legs have been trimmed. At the bottom of each leg is discoloration that can be attributed to the tucking in to the top of his socks, which can be seen in nearly every photograph of Ruth in uniform. They show even wear throughout and the right leg exhibits a team repaired tear that runs the length of the shin.

Reserve $50,000

Lot 3
1932 Babe Ruth Game-Used Bat (PSA/DNA)

The list of possible descriptives is endless, but in reality it is impossible to accurately portray the legend that is Babe Ruth on paper. Truly illustrative of what is possible in this country, Babe Ruth went from street urchin to national treasure, and in the process changed this game we call baseball forever. There is not much that needs be written about his career but a short recap of the 1932 season, the year to which this bat dates, is surely in order. Playing a full 133 game season Ruth compiled an impressive .341 batting average and for the eleventh time in his career, surpassed the 40 home run mark. He landed within the top 10 of no fewer than 10 prominent statistical categories including home runs, average, runs, on base percentage, and total bases. For the seventh time as a member of the New York Yankees he took the team to the World Series and summarily helped them to a World Championship. His batting average of .333 in that Fall Classic can only be overshadowed by the legendary "called shot" in Game 3. This incredible Ruth game-used bat dates to September 17, 1932 as the NY Yankees played the St. Louis Browns. Red Smith was writing for the St. Louis Star at the time and all indications are that he and Ruth were good friends. This would also mark the last time that Ruth would appear in St. Louis as a Yankee. The barrel of the bat has visible ball hit and transfer marks along the left barrel. Slight blue rack marks can still be found on most of the barrel's surface. Still uncracked, there is a signature on the right barrel with inscription "To Smitty [unlegible] Babe Ruth" that rates a 3. However, the writing and inscription can not be confirmed as either Ruth or his wife. Manufacturer: Hillerich & Bradsby, Model Number: Pre-Model Number, Labeling Period: 1932, Length: 34-3/4 inches, Weight: 35-4/5 ounces, Wood: White Hickory, Finish: Standard. The bat comes with a LOA from PSA/DNA. Reserve $25,000

Lot 4

Circa 1927 Bob Muesel NY Yankees Game-Used Road Flannel Pants

Perhaps the fastest Yankee in the 1920s, Bob Muesel led the Yanks in stolen bases five times in his career. In a 1927 regular season game, Muesel stole second base, third base and home. In the 1927 World Series, won by New York, Muesel stole home twice in the series. He was also good at the plate, leading the league in both home runs and RBIs in 1925. Inside the back waistband is the "A.G. Spalding" manufacturers tag. Adjacent to that is embroidered "Muesel R" in script. The pants show excellent (heavy) use with many holes in the left leg, both on front and on the back. The pants appear to have no alterations of any kind.

Babe Ruth Single Signed Baseball (PSA/DNA)
 The "Sultan of Swat" will forever be remembered as the King of the Home Run. When he became the first player to hit 700 career homers, no one else had hit 300 for their entire career! He hit the most career homers for the same AL team (Yankees) by belting 659 of them while in New York. Ruth cleared the bases once in every 11.76 plate appearances, far ahead of runner-up Ralph Kiner's one home run per 14.11 appearances. No matter how many home runs were or will be hit by those who came after him, Ruth will always be a true American original. This W.A. Holt Official League baseball has been signed in black fountain pen on the sweet spot by Babe Ruth. The ball shows toning, some small abrasion and some areas of spotting which do not affect the signature. There is a small smudge or ink mark at the top of the "b" in "Babe." Signature grades an overall 7. Accompanied by a LOA from Jimmy Spence of PSA/DNA. Reserve $1,000

Lot 15
Babe Ruth Single Signed Baseball (PSA/DNA)
 Although many of Babe Ruth's baseball records have since been broken, he is still considered the greatest athlete to ever play the game. At the time of his retirement, Ruth held 56 Major League records. Recognized as the greatest hitter of his day, he even batted .304 career as a pitcher! He led the league 12 times in home runs, 11 times hitting more than 40, including his remarkable 60 in 1927. When Ruth hit 54 in 1920, no other player had more than 19 and only the entire Philadelphia Phillies team hit more home runs. This OAL Harridge baseball has been signed in black fountain pen on the top panel by Babe Ruth. On the sweet spot and side panels is written in blue ink (not in Ruth's hand) an inscription to a junior baseball All-Star named "Joe" and a date of 1947. The ball shows wear, toning and some scuff marks, the signature grades a strong 8. Accompanied by a LOA from Jimmy Spence of PSA/DNA. Reserve $2,500

Babe Ruth Single Signed Baseball (PSA/DNA)

Babe Ruth's early career with the Red Sox saw him become the ace of the pitching staff, and in the 1916 World Series Ruth pitched 13 straight scoreless innings in the longest complete game in the history of the World Series. The record still stands today. Moving on to the Yankees in 1924, the Ruth legend began to emerge. He was so successful that the Yankees were able to build a new stadium, still known today as "The house that Ruth built." The Babe was the highest-paid player of his era, and when told by a reporter that the $80,000 salary he received in 1930 had exceeded that of the President of the United States (Herbert Hoover), Ruth was alleged to have said, "I had a better year than he did." Ruth was the first player to hit 30, 40, 50, and 60 home runs in a season. Over a six year period from 1926-1931, Ruth averaged more than 50 homers a year. He was the first to hit four homers in a single World Series. His career home run record of 714 was later surpassed by Hank Aaron, but it is unlikely that his .690 lifetime slugging percentage will ever be topped - only Ted Williams has even come close. Released by the Yankees in 1935 and picked up by the Braves, Ruth hit his last three home runs in a single game. This OAL Harridge baseball has been signed in blue fountain pen on the sweet spot by Babe Ruth. The ball shows even overall toning with a bold signature that grades a near 9. Accompanied by a LOA from Jimmy Spence of PSA/DNA. Reserve $7,500

Babe Ruth Twice Signed Check (PSA/DNA)

Home run champion. Media star. Fan favorite. Hero. Legend. These are just a few of the words that have been used to describe the inimitable Babe Ruth, the most celebrated baseball player in history. In fact, the word "Ruthian" has entered the popular vernacular to define "of mammoth proportions." Although Ruth's personality was larger than life, he still had to administer his life, in one way or another, much like the rest of us - paying bills, going shopping, going to the bank...and writing checks. This Chemical Bank & Trust Company check has been made out, dated April 29, 1940 and signed twice in fountain pen "GH Ruth" by Babe Ruth, once on the front and endorsed on the back.

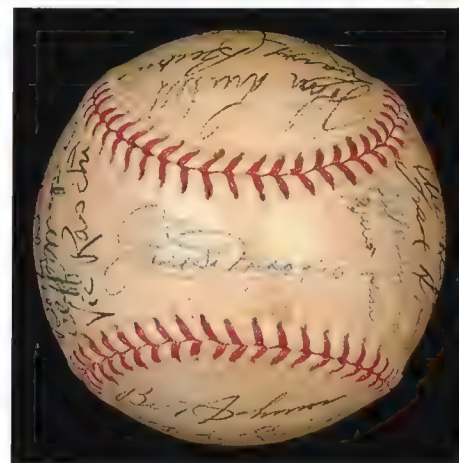

Neither the bank stamps nor the punches affect the signatures in any way. The signatures grade a 9 and comes with a letter from Jimmy Spence of PSA/DNA. Reserve $2,500

Joe DiMaggio 56 Game Hitting Streak Trophy Award (Ex-Halper)

In the summer of 1941, millions followed the daily drama that would transform a young Yankee named Joe DiMaggio into an American legend - the streak of hitting safely in 56 straight games. The record stands undiminished to this day, having become a baseball benchmark and described by baseball writer Roger Angell as the "primo batting number in the sport." This 14-1/2" trophy features a hollow plastic base with mounted swinging baseball player, made of plated hollow cast metal. The affixed plaque reads "Joe DiMaggio, 56 Game Hitting Streak," Presented By S.F. Old Timers Ass'n." The plaque shows some scratching, abrasions and minor glue remnants. The swinging baseball player shows a few scratches, nicks and tiny chips on the plating, still shines like a beauty.

1950s Yogi Berra NY Yankees Game-Used & Autographed Catchers Mitt (Berra Letter) (PSA/DNA)

Though he's now better known for his trademark "Yogi-isms," in his 19-year MLB career, Yogi Berra established himself as the standard to which catchers should strive. Offensively, Berra hit 358 home runs and had 1430 RBIs to go with a lifetime .285 batting average. One of the leaders of the great Yankee teams of the 1950s and 1960s, Yogi was a 15-time All Star, and won the AL MVP award three times, in 1951, 1954 and 1955. He led the AL in games caught and chance for a catcher eight times, in double-plays for a catcher six times, and is one of only four catchers to field 1.000 in a season. Yogi set the major league record of catching 148 consecutive games and having 950 chances without making an error. Berra retired from the Yankees after the 1963 season. Yogi was elected to the Baseball HoF in 1972. The brown leather catchers mitt has the "Spalding" manufacturers tag stitched to the outside. On the outside thumb is the player number "8" in black marker. On the outside fingers is "Streamlined Fingers" and "Heavy Duty Lockstitched" in script and "PAT. No. 2231204 CANADA - 398340-1941" stamped in silver. On the top outside pocket is "It Ain't over til its over" in script in black ink. Below that is a signature in black marker rating a 5-6. On the inside bottom thumb is the "Larry Yogi Berra" model manufacturers stamp. On the heel of the mitt is "E-Z Flex" in script stamped in silver. Adjacent to that is a signature and "#8" in black marker rating an 8. The mitt shows excellent game use with the "Spalding" tag frayed and partially missing on one end. Accompanied by a LOA from Yogi Berra and an additional LOA from Jimmy Spence of PSA/DNA. Reserve $5,000

8" x 10" black and white photo of Yankee Roger Maris at the plate, ostensibly after hitting a home run, signed and inscribed in blue ink by Maris. Signature grades an 8-9. Accompanied by a LOA from Jimmy Spence of PSA/DNA. Reserve $250

The momentous 61st home run was struck by Maris at precisely 2:46 (Washington Time) yesterday off Tracy Stallard, rookie right-hander of the Red Sox. It was in the fourth inning and Maris was batting for the second time. In the first inning he lofted a long fly to leftfield.

Stallard's first pitch to Maris in the fourth was high and outside for a ball. The next was low and inside, almost into the dirt. Plate umpire Bill Klemmer called it another ball.

Maris, who had vowed earlier he would come out of the dugout swinging, whirled into the next pitch, a fast ball which was rather high and over the plate. He drove the ball into the lower right-field stands, about 15 rows deep and about 350 feet away. And thus he became the first man in major league baseball history to hit at home runs in a season.

"It was the biggest home run I ever hit," Maris exclaimed later. "I knew it was gone the minute I hit it. I can't explain how I felt. I don't know what I was thinking of as I rounded the bases, by bird was a block."

After Maris had jogged around the bases and ducked into the dugout, the other Yankee players pushed him out on the field, where he took long bows to a standing ovation of the 25,135 Yankee Stadium fans. They continued their wild cheering for five minutes.

"It's great, great, great," Maris told a horde of reporters, photographers, TV and radio men who crowded around him outside in the Yankee clubhouse after the game, which was won by the Yankees on the home run, 1-0.

"It's the greatest thrill I ever had. I thought nothing could match the thrill I got when I hit my 60th, but this beats everything."

"Whether I beat Ruth's record or not is for others to say, but it gives me a wonderful feeling to know that I'm the only man in history to hit 61 home runs. Nobody can take that away from me."

Excerpt from an Associated Press article dated 10/2/61 in which Maris hit his 61st home run.

1961 Moose Skowron NY Yankees Game-Used Home Jersey

Bill "Moose" Skowron was a six-time All Star (including 1961) for the Yankees at first base. A member of the Yanks from 1954 to 1962, Skowron was in seven Series with the team. His greatest moment may have been in 1958, when his 3-run homer in Game seven of the series gave the Yankees the World Series victory. In 1961, he hit 26 home runs and drove in 91 RBIs, and then in the World Series helped the Yankees with a .353 batting average and a home run. On the left front tail of the jersey is the "Spalding" manufacturers tag. Attached to that is an additional manufacturers tag with the jersey size "44" on it. Below that is "61" embroidered in blue thread. On the inside left front tail is an additional manufacturers tag with wash instructions on it. Attached to that is an additional manufacturers tag with "SET 1 1961" on it. On the inside back collar is an additional manufacturers tag with "Skowron" in script embroidered in blue thread on it. On the left breast is the official "Yankees NY" logo in blue felt that has been restored. On the back is the player number "14" in blue felt. The jersey shows good game use with the "Spalding" tag becoming frayed on one side. Aside from the restored "NY" on the front, there appears to be no alterations of any kind. Reserve $1,000

1978 NY Yankees World Series Trophy

1978 marked the 75th Anniversary of the Fall Classic and brought together the two rivals who had played in the previous World Series, the Yankees and the Dodgers. The rivalry dated back to the Dodgers' days in Brooklyn, when they were the Yanks' crosstown rivals. The Yankees had beaten the Dodgers in the 1977 World Series 4-2 to win their first championship since 1962, a feat which they would repeat in the 1978 rematch. It was the first World Series rematch since the Yankees and Braves in 1957 and 1958. The Yankees were understandably tired after battling the Red Sox for first place all season, culminating in a thrilling one game play-off on October 2. The Bronx Bombers dropped the first two at Dodger Stadium. Returning to New York, Ron Guidry, who had beat the Sox for his 25th win in the playoff game, held the Dodgers to one run in Game Three to begin the comeback. In Game Five, Thurman Munson drove in five runs and Yankees went on to win four straight and capture the title. This 1978 World Series trophy was presented to a member of the Yankees front office. Just over a foot tall at the highest flag, the trophy features a gold crown atop an arc center-piece over a silver baseball, surrounded by 26 gold flags with black lettering on stanchions, one for each Major League team. The two World Series teams' press pins are mounted on the 7" diameter black base, in front of the silver baseball. The surrounding gold band reads "World Champions, New York Yankees, 1978." There is a Balfour manufacturers sticker underneath the base. In overall NRMT condition with minor oxidation on the top of the silver baseball and arc. Rare and highly sought after due to the popularity and history of the Yankees. Reserve $2,500

1999 Joe Pepitone NY Yankees World Championship Ring

As the 20th century came to a close, it was appropriate that the team that had defined baseball for the last 100 years should once again compete in the World Series, their 36th fall classic. 1999 was a year that saw the Yankees sweep the Rangers in the ALDS and defeat the Red Sox 4-1 in the ALCS for a total of 125 wins that season, more than any other team in history and surpassing the record they had set the previous year. The Yankees convincingly swept the Braves in the World Series for their second in a row; they would win four of five between 1996-2000. This 14K ring measures a size 13 1/2 and is made by Balfour, who have manufactured every one of the Yankees World Series rings. It is the only known 1999 World Series ring to have ever been available to the public. The ring features a large gold diamond encrusted "NY" in the center over a diamond chip platform. This is surrounded by a second tier of diamond chips with "19" and "99" in raised gold letters on each side. On the right shank is a raised gold Yankees top hat logo with banner that reads "The Century's Team." Below that is a rendition of a portion of the famous Yankee Stadium facade with "25th World Championship" banner. On the left shank is the name "Pepitone" in large raised gold letters, above a rendition of the World Series trophy with "25th" in the center. Beneath this is a raised "Tradition" above the chevron. Inside the ring is stamped "Balfour, 14K." Ring shows light wear and is in NRMT condition. Also included is the original 7 3/4" x 6" wood presentation box that the ring was given in; the glass top reads "New York Yankees, 1999 World Champions." Box is in NRMT condition.

2003 World Series Derek Jeter*NY Yankees Game-Used Home Jersey

From the time of his first regular season in 1996, Derek Jeter has been the heart and soul of the Yankees in the modern era. The shortstop helped New York to five World Series in his first six seasons, with the Yanks winning four World Championships. In his ten-year career, Jeter hit .315, had 150 home runs and 693 RBIs in the regular season. He has had eight 100 run seasons, the most since Mantle compiled nine seasons. Jeter was the 1996 AL Rookie of the Year and 2000 World Series MVP, was named an All Star six times, and won four Gold Gloves. His MVP award in the 2001 All Star Game was the first given to a Yankee. In 2003, Jeter rebounded from an early season injury to hit .324 in the regular season and assist the Yankees into the postseason. After contributing to the AL Pennant series wins against the Twins, Jeter set his sights on leading New York to another World Championship. Despite his .346 World Series batting average, Jeter could not help the Yanks to accomplish this, and the Marlins upset New York in six games. Jeter did however set the MLB record, with 123 postseason hits. 2003 also saw another milestone in Jeter's career: on June 3, he was named as only the 11th Yankee team captain. On the left front tail of the jersey is the "Russell" manufacturers tag with wash instructions on it. Below that is an additional manufacturers tag with "2003" on it. Attached to the "Russell" tag are two additional manufacturers tags with the jersey size "48" and "100% POLYESTER" and "2" EXTRA LENGTH" on them. On the left breast of the jersey is the official "NY" logo in navy blue tackle twill. On the back of the jersey is the player number "2" in navy blue tackle twill. On the left sleeve is the official "Yankees 100th Anniversary" embroidered logo patch. On the right sleeve is the official "World Series 100th Anniversary" embroidered logo patch. On the back outside collar is the official "MLB" embroidered logo. The jersey shows game use with light stains on the back on the left front. The jersey appears to have no alterations of any kind. Accompanied by a Steiner Certificate. Steiner Sports Memorabilia will personally have this jersey autographed by Derek Jeter if the winner wishes to. Reserve $7,500

Derek Jeter Fantasy Clinic

Get ready for a once in a lifetime experience your child will never forget. Steiner Sports Marketing will host its annual Derek Jeter children's baseball clinic this December. Derek Jeter is a four Time World Series Champion and has risen to stardom over his nine year career with the New York Yankees. In 2003, he was named captain of the New York Yankees (only the 11th Yankees Captain in history). Over the years, Derek Jeter has become one of the most respected ballplayers of this generation. This once-in-a-lifetime event is for kids ages 8-15. This fantastic auction includes one spot for your child, and two admissions for adults to watch the clinic. Your child will participate in different baseball skill stations. Jeter will be at one of the stations teaching the fundamentals of playing baseball. Additional Yankee players and/or personnel are expected to be there as well. Your child will take one group photo with Derek Jeter. He or she will be in the photo with the other group members in his station. Your child will receive one copy of the photo at the end of the clinic. At the conclusion of the event, each child will receive a gift bag courtesy of Steiner Sports. Time, place, and location of this event have not been scheduled yet. Reserve $500

1996-00 Mike Piazza Game Bat (PSA/DNA)

Mike Piazza entered the 2004 season only needing 4 home runs to tie the record for most homers hit by a catcher. Carlton Fisk held the original record by hitting 351 home runs as a catcher. On April, 27 2004 Mike Piazza tied the record by hitting a home run to left-center with one out in the sixth off of Dodgers pitcher Hideo Nomo at Dodger Stadium, the first team he played for. This home run moved Mike Piazza into 58th place all-time on the home run list passing another great Joe DiMaggio. Mike Piazza would break the record on May 5, 2004 against the SF Giants by hitting a Jerome Williams pitch over the wall at Shea Stadium. A sure

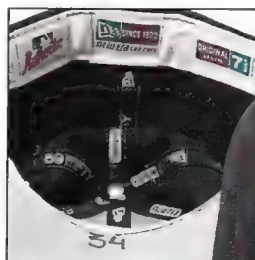

Hall of Famer, Mike Piazza will go down in the record books as one of the greatest hitting catchers of all time. This Mizuno bat shows all the attributes of a game ready bat, with black rack marks covering all sides of the barrel and handle. Mike's uniform number "31" is written on both ends of the bat in black marker. Manufacturer: Mizuno, Model Number: Pro LTD, Labeling Period: 1996-00, Length: 34-1/2 inches, Weight: 31-2/3 ounces, Wood: Ash, Finish: Standard. 2004 World Series David Ortiz Boston Red Sox Game-Used & Autographed Cap (PSA/DNA)

It took one hit to change the Red Sox's fate in the 2004 postseason and David Ortiz did it. The outlook was bleak for Boston as they trailed the New York Yankees 0-3 in the ALCS, when Ortiz's 12th inning walk-off homer began the Sox's comeback. He was the unanimous choice for ALCS MVP with three home runs, a .387 batting average, and 11 RBI. He again proved himself in the World Series, hitting .308 with one home run and knocking in 4 RBIs in Boston's triumph over the St. Louis Cardinals. On the inside back headband of the cap is the "New Era" manufacturers tag. To the right of that is an additional manufacturers tag with the cap size "7 5/8" on it. To the left of the "New Era" tag is an official "MLB Licensee" manufacturers tag. On the underside of the bill of the cap is "34" in black marker. On the front of the cap is "B" in red on white tackle twill. On the left side of the cap is the official "2004 World Series" logo patch. On the front left of the cap is "04 WS Game used" and an autograph in silver marker rating an 8. The cap shows game use and appears to have no alterations of any kind. Accompanied by a LOA from Jimmy Spence of PSA/DNA and by a Steiner Certificate. Reserve $1,000

2004 Curt Schilling Signed World Series Base (PSA/DNA)

one of those special pitchers that will be remembered forever. When Curt Schilling returned to the team that first drafted him, he brought with him the power to restore glory to the Boston Red Sox and break a curse that had haunted the club since 1918. The two-time leader in strikeouts (and 2001 World Series co-MVP) shined as he pitched 21 wins and an impressive 3.26 ERA in 2004. With an injured ankle that made it almost impossible to pitch in the postseason, Schilling worked through it and led the Red Sox to victory, establishing himself as one of the greatest postseason pitchers of all-time. This Schutt 2004 World Series base has been signed in black paint sharpie by Curt Schilling. The base is unused (tags present), with the 2004 World Series logo on the face and the MLB logo on each of the four sides. The signature grades a 7 and comes with a Steiner Sports Certificate of Authenticity as well as a letter from Jimmy Spence of PSA/DNA. Reserve $500

2003 St. Louis Cardinals Opening Day Game-Used Base Autographed by Albert Pujols (PSA/DNA)

With the Cardinals third base job wide open for the 2001 season, a rookie by the name of Albert Pujols stepped in. Coming out of nowhere, Pujols went on to slam 37 home runs and tally in 137 RBI. This was one of the biggest seasons a rookie has ever had in Major League Baseball history. Albert Pujols went on to start at 3B for the National League at the 2001 All Star Game and was named the 2001 NL Rookie of the Year. Pujols has since continued his dominance, including a 2003 season that he ended with a .349 average, 124 RBI and 43 home runs. This Hollywood Base Manufactured 15" x 15" base is from the St. Louis Cardinals 2003 Opening Day game at Busch Stadium. The base has the official 2003 Opening Day logo affixed to the top with plastic MLB and Cardinal logos attached to the four sides. The base shows excellent use as dirt is prevalent on the entire surface area. Albert Pujols has autographed the top of the base in black marker rating a 7. Accompanied by a LOA from Jimmy Spence of PSA/DNA and a Steiner Certificate. Reserve $250

1973 NY Yankees Game-Used Road Pants (Yankees-Steiner Letter)

A tough competitor and on-the-field leader, "Thuman Munson's" first full season in pinstripes saw him win the 1970 AL Rookie of the Year Award. Munson was one of the best catchers in the major leagues during the 1970s, and a master at handling pitchers. He was the first Yankee team captain since Lou Gehrig had received the title. Munson's solid play in the field and his offensive tenacity at the plate led the Yankees to three consecutive World Series, and to World Championships in 1977 and 1978. In 1976, he was named the American League MVP. In 1973, Munson had a great year at the plate, hitting .301 with 20 home runs and 74 RBIs. The seven-time All Star also won a Gold Glove that year, the first of three straight. Munson's career was tragically cut short in August 1979 when the plane he was flying crashed. On the inside right front waistband is the "Wilson" manufacturers tag with wash instructions and the pants size "35" on it. To the right of that is "ESPINO" in faded black marker. On the inside left front waistband is "85" in faded black marker. On the inside center back of the waistband is an additional manufacturers tag with "Munson 73 Set 1 22" in script embroidered in faded navy blue thread. The pants show good game use and appear to have no alterations of any kind. Accompanied by a Yankees-Steiner letter. Reserve $1,500

1973 NY Yankees Game-Used Road Pants (Yankees-Steiner Letter)

One of the best relief pitchers to throw a ball, "Sparky Lyle" came out of the bullpen for the Red Sox before joining the Yankees in 1972. That season, he proceeded to lead the AL in saves, a feat he repeated in 1978. In 1977, Lyle became the first relief pitcher in MLB history to win a Cy Young Award. During his seven years with the Yankees, Lyle was named to the All Star team three times. After being worn by Lyle, these pants were sent to the Yankee minor league system where they were worn by several other players. On the inside right front waistband is the "Wilson" manufacturers tag with wash instructions and the pants size "36" on it. Adjacent to that is "56" in faded black marker. On the inside left front waistband is "69" and a crossed-out (illegible) number in black marker. To the left of that is "NORRID" in faded blue marker. On the inside center back of the waistband is an additional manufacturers tag with "Lyle 73 Set 2 25" in script embroidered in faded navy blue thread. The pants show good game use with several very small dark spot stains on back right leg. The pants appear to have no alterations of any kind. Accompanied by a Yankees-Steiner letter. Reserve $500

1977 NY Yankees Game-Worn Manager's Road Pants (World Championship Year) (Yankees-Steiner Letter)

One of baseball's best managers, "Billy Martin" was a driven individual whose energy for the game helped coin the phrase "Billy Ball." Martin had played for the Yankees in the 1950s, and first joined the club as Manager in 1975. He quickly took charge and guided the Yankees to three straight World Series and two World Championships (1977-1978). Martin was also one of the sport's most "colorful" characters, a trait that seemed to constantly get him in trouble with Yankees owner George Steinbrenner and others. Martin was hired and fired five times - he holds the major league record of having five different terms as manager of one ball club. Martin's career record as a manager, which included stints at Detroit, Minnesota, Oakland and Texas, was 1253-1013 - a .553 winning percentage. On the inside right front waistband is the "Wilson" manufacturers tag with wash instructions and the pants size "33" on it. Adjacent to that is an additional manufacturers tag with "Martin 77 1 22" in script embroidered in navy blue thread. The pants show good wear with several dirt stains on the left seat of the pants. The pants appear to have no alterations of any kind. Accompanied by a Yankees-Steiner letter. Reserve $750

1978 NY Yankees Game-Used Road Jersey (World Championship Year) (Yankees-Steiner Letter)

"Roy White" became a fixture in the outfield after joining the team in 1965. He spent his entire 15 year career with the Yankees. He was a dependable hitter, had decent speed (233 career stolen bases), and was superb defensively. He led the league in runs scored in 1976, helping New York to it's first World Series of the Decade. In 1978, White had his best postseason, hitting .333 with a home run and four RBIs in the World Series won by the Yankees. On the left front tail of the jersey is the "Wilson" manufacturers tag with wash instructions and the jersey size "40" on it. On the inside back collar is an additional manufacturers tag with "White 78 2" in script embroidered in navy blue thread. Across the front of the jersey is "NEW YORK." On the back of the jersey is the player number "6." All lettering and numbering is done in navy blue on white tackle twill. 1979 NY Yankees Game-Used Road Jersey (Yankees-Steiner Letter)

"Chris Chambliss" came to the Yanks in a trade with the Cleveland Indians, and provided solidity at first base. Along with Thurman Munson, he was a leader of the great 1970s Yankee teams. The 1971 AL Rookie of the Year was named an All Star and helped New York to the World Series in 1976. He assisted in the Yankee back-to-back World Championship in 1977 and 1978. In 1979, Chambliss hit .280 with 18 homers and 63 RBIs for the Yankees. On the left front tail of the jersey is the "Wilson" manufacturers tag with wash instructions and the jersey size "46" on it. On the inside back collar is an additional manufacturers tag with "Chambliss 79 2" in script embroidered in navy blue thread. Across the front of the jersey is "NEW YORK." 1979 NY Yankees Game-Used Home Pants (Yankees-Steiner Letter)

"Mickey Rivers" debut in the outfield for the Yankees in 1976, and was named to the All Star team that season. Rivers, along with pitcher Ed Figueroa, had come to the Yankees from the California Angels in exchange for Bobby Bonds. A sparkplug of a player, Rivers was a great left-handed lead-off hitter who helped New York to three straight AL Pennants and two consecutive World Championships. Rivers was also a "character" whose sayings were reminiscent of the profound statements of Yogi Berra. After 74 games with the Yankees in 1979, Rivers was traded to the Texas Rangers. On the inside right front waistband is the "Wilson" manufacturers tag with wash instructions and the pants size "32" on it. Adjacent to that is an additional manufacturers tag with "Rivers 79 2 22 1/2" in script embroidered in navy blue thread. The pants show good game use with several stains on the left seat and left front thigh of the pants. The pants appear to have no alterations of any kind. 1980 NY Yankee Game-Worn Road Coach's Pants (Yankees-Steiner Letter)

"Jim 'Catfish' Hunter" was one of the great pitchers of the 1970s, helping Oakland to three World Championships in the early years of the decade. Catfish came to New York in 1975 and was a contributor to the Yankees three straight World Series appearances. Hunter went 2-1 in the 1977 series in which New York emerged as World Champions. Previous to joining the Yankees, Hunter had led the AL in wins in 1974 and 1975, in ERA in 1974, and was awarded the AL Cy Young Award in 1974. The eight-time All Star retired after the 1979 season. Hunter served as a Spring Training coach for the Yankees in 1980. On the inside right front waistband is the "Wilson" manufacturers tag with wash instructions and the pants size "35" on it. Adjacent to that is an additional manufacturers tag with "Hunter 80 1 23" in script embroidered in navy blue thread. The pants show light wear and appear to have no alterations of any kind. 2000 NY Yankees Game-Used Rookie Home Jersey (Yankees-Steiner Letter)

"Alfonso Soriano" quickly established himself as an anchor in the middle of the infield for New York. In six seasons, the second baseman has combined power with speed, hitting 126 homers and stealing 139 bases. Soriano just missed joining the exclusive 40-40 club in 2002 when he hit 39 home runs and stole 41 bases, in addition to hitting .300 with 102 RBIs. Soriano was named to the All Star team three times. On the left front tail of the jersey is the "Russell" manufacturers tag with wash instructions and the jersey size "48" on it. Below that is an additional manufacturers tag with "2000" on it. Attached to that are two additional manufacturers tags with "2" EXTRA LENGTH" and "100% POLYESTER" on them. On the left breast is the "NY" logo in blue tackle twill. On the back of the jersey is the player number "33" in blue tackle twill. On the outside back collar is the official "MLB" embroidered logo. On the left sleeve is a black armband. The jersey shows game use and appears to have no alterations of any kind. Accompanied by a Yankees-Steiner letter.

2003 NY Yankees Game-Used Cap (Yankees-Steiner Letter)

One of the best Japanese players of the modern era, "Hideki Matsui" was an All Star, MVP and a home run champion in his native land before coming over to join the Yankees in 2003. Known in Japan as "Godzilla" for his tremendous power, Matsui had trouble adjusting to fastballs in his first major league season, but in 2004 doubled his home run total from the previous year. In his "rookie" year, Matsui contributed greatly to the Yankees postseason success. Though New York eventually lost the title, Matsui's home run in Game 2 against the Marlins gave the Yanks a victory. In a losing effort against the Red Sox in the 2004 ALCS, Matsui hit .412 with a pair of home runs and 10 RBIs and was near perfect in the field. On the inside back center of the headband is the "New Era" tag. To the right of that is the official "MLB Licensee" manufacturers tag. To the left of the "New Era" tag is a tag with the cap size "8" on it. On the underside of the bill of the cap is the player number "55" in black marker. On the front of the cap is the official "NY" logo embroidered in white thread. On the left side is the official "World Series 100th Anniversary" embroidered logo patch. On the outside back center of the headband is the official "MLB" embroidered logo. The cap shows good game use with a small dirt stain on the front at the junction of the bill and the cap. The cap appears to have no alterations of any kind. Accompanied by a Yankees-Steiner letter. Reserve $1,000

9-29-2004 & 9-30-2004 Game Used Yankee Stadium Pitching Rubber (Yankees-Steiner Letter)

Every boy who has ever pitched a baseball has dreamed of performing his art on the ultimate world stage - the pitcher's mound at Yankee Stadium. The small dirt hill has witnessed some of the greatest pitching exhibitions of all-time, including seven no-hitters and three perfect games. The most famous of these, of course, took place on October 8, 1956, Game 5 of the 1956 World Series against the Dodgers, when Don Larsen pitched the first perfect game in Yankee Stadium history. This Schutt "Pitcher's Plate 4-Way" model pitching rubber was on the Yankee Stadium mound for three games on September 29 and 30, 2004. In the September 29th double header vs. the Twins, Mariano Rivera, the greatest relief pitcher of all-time, closed out both games for his 52nd and 53rd saves of the season. The white rubber measures approximately 24" long x 6" wide x 6" tall and has a large cylinder bored out of the center, running end to end. There is a stamped MLB logo on one side, and around the hole is molded "Hollywood Base Professional Pitching Rubber MLBP BBPB" with the Schutt logo. The rubber shows incredible use, abrasions and soiling and cleat scrapes. Accompanied by a Yankees-Steiner Collectibles LOA. Reserve $1,000

2004 Yankee Stadium Locker Room Chair (Yankees-Steiner Letter)

Already a star slugger in Japan, "Hideki "Godzilla" Matsui" announced his arrival in New York with a grand slam in his first game at Yankee Stadium, the first Yankee to ever accomplish this feat. An All-Star both times in his two years with the Yankees, Matsui has averaged .339 in the postseason, batting .412 in both the 2004 ALDS and ALCS. With such a start, he promises to have a long and successful career in the Big Apple with the most famous team in all of sports. This is Hideki Matsui's personal Yankee Stadium locker room chair from the 2004 season. The metal framed folding chair has white padded leather seat, back and armrest. There is a Yankees top hat logo on the seat and a blue "NY" Yankees logo on the seat back. The frame is painted blue and is made by Clarin, whose logo appears on the bottom back leg feet.

Underneath the seat is a "Clarin Boxx Seats" sticker. Behind the seat back is a piece of trainer's tape with "Matsui" written in black marker. The seat shows great use with soiling on the seat and back. Accompanied by a Yankees-Steiner Collectibles LOA. Reserve $1,000

1967 Steve Carlton St. Louis Cardinals Game-Used & Twice Signed World Series Home Jersey (Video Match) (PSA/DNA)

Known simply as "Lefty," Steve Carlton was one of the most successful pitchers in the modern era. In 1967, Carlton helped St. Louis to the World Series, going 14-9 with a 2.98 ERA in the regular season. In his 23-year career he recorded six 20-win seasons. He was the league leader in wins five times, led in ERA in 1972, and led in strikeouts five seasons. Carlton was named to the All-Star team ten times, and was the first pitcher to win four Cy Young Awards. When Carlton retired after the 1988 season, he ranked second in wins and strikeouts for a left-handed pitcher. He also had a 3.22 lifetime ERA to go with his 329 wins. Carlton was elected to the Baseball HoF in 1994. On the left front tail of the jersey is the "Rawlings" tag with the jersey size "46" on it. Below that is an additional tag with wash instructions on it. Attached to that tag is an additional tag with "SET 1 1967" on it. Across the front of the jersey is "Cardinals" in script above the "Cardinals on a bat" logo embroidered in red and yellow on black thread. 1993 Barry Bonds San Francisco Giants Game-Used Home Jersey

Perhaps the best all-around baseball player of the 1990s, Barry Bonds combined speed and power to provide his teams with a potent offensive threat. In 1993, his first year with the Giants, Bonds had a great year. He led the league in home runs (46), RBIs (123) and slugging percentage (.677), was the top vote getter for the All Star Team, won his fourth Gold Glove Award and was named the NL's MVP for the third time. He also stole 29 bases. Three years later, Bonds become only the second major leaguer to join the 40 home runs/40 stolen bases club. The seven-time National League MVP is currently in third place in MLB career home runs, just behind Babe Ruth and Hank Aaron. Even though known for his round-trippers (he had 45 in 2004), Bonds has also had a batting average consistently over .300. Bonds is the only player to record over 500 home runs and 500 stolen bases in a career. On the inside left tail of the jersey is the "Rawlings" manufacturers tag with wash instructions and the jersey size "44" on it. Below that is an additional manufacturers tag with "92 25" on it. 5-1-1991 Nolan Ryan Texas Rangers 7th No Hitter Game-Used & Autographed Home Jersey (Team Letter) (PSA/DNA)

Nolan Ryan was arguably the most dominating pitcher of his day, throwing a career record seven no-hit shutouts, three more than any other pitcher in baseball history. This unique jersey is from that seventh no-hit game on May 1, 1991 at Arlington, Texas. Ryan, at the age of 44, threw a total of 122 pitches, 83 for strikes, struck out a total of 16 batters, and walked two with only two balls making it out of the infield. The final out occurred when Roberto Alomar of Toronto swung and missed on a 93 mph fastball in the ninth inning. Alomar was Ryan's 5,361st career strikeout victim. The game was Ryan's 305th career victory. One of the greatest power pitchers in the history of the game, Ryan is the only pitcher in MLB history to record 2,000 strike outs in both the American and National Leagues. When he retired in 1993, Ryan had set the MLB record with 5,714 career strikeouts. Selected to eight All Star Games, Ryan was elected to the Baseball HoF in 1999. On the inside back collar of the jersey is the "Goodman & Sons" manufacturers tag with wash instructions and "2" in black marker on it. Across the front of the jersey is "Rangers" in blue on red tackle twill. Below that on the left and on the back of the jersey is the player number "34" in blue on red tackle twill. Across the back is "RYAN" in blue tackle twill. There is an autograph in blue marker rating a 9 on the front right of the jersey below the team name. The jersey shows game use and appears to have no alterations of any kind. The jersey is accompanied by a limited edition numbered 16" x 20" color photographic print (number 141 of 711) of the moment Ryan struck out Alomar to end the game. The print is autographed by Ryan in silver marker rating an 8. The jersey is accompanied by a LOA from the team signed by Nolan Ryan and manager Bobby Valentine, and an additional LOA from Jimmy Spence of PSA/DNA.

1960 Ted Williams Boston Red Sox Game-Used Home Flannel Jersey

Perhaps the greatest hitter ever in baseball, Ted Williams was a larger than life figure who combined exceptional eyesight and patience. Williams had a glorious 19-year career with the Red Sox, appearing in 17 All Star Games. He was the first Rookie to lead the league in RBIs, and the last player to hit over .400 for the season (.406 in 1942). Williams led the AL in batting average, runs and total bases six times, in on base percentage twelve times, in slugging percentage nine times, in walks eight times, and in home runs and RBIs four times.

The "Splendid Splinter" was a Triple Crown winner in 1942 and 1947, and was named the AL MVP in 1946 and 1949. Williams career was cut short by almost five seasons by his military service in WWII and in Korea. In his last season of 1960, Williams played in 113 games, hit .316 with 29 home runs, and had a slugging percentage of .645. In his final at bat, he hit his 521st home run.

When he retired, he had played in 2292 games in 19 years and had a lifetime batting average of .344. Williams was elected to the Baseball HoF in 1966. On the left front tail of the jersey is the "Tim McAuliffe Inc." manufacturers tag. Attached to that are two additional manufacturers tags with the year "'60" and the jersey size "46" on them. Babe Ruth Single Signed Baseball (PSA/DNA)

Idolized by millions in his time, Babe Ruth remains an American icon today - the man who made baseball America's pastime. The Yankees, having never won a pennant prior to 1921, proceeded to win four World Series upon acquiring "The Bambino." A 94 game winner with a 2.28 ERA while with the Red Sox, Ruth switched to the outfield with the Yankees and a slugging legend was born. He remains a towering figure in the sport to this day. He was inaugurated into Cooperstown with the first class in 1936, only a year after his retirement. This (possible) OAL Harridge baseball has been signed in black fountain pen on the sweet spot by the Babe. The ball shows wear and spotting, with the manufacturers mark and League President's name having practically worn off.

The signature grades a 7-8. Accompanied by a

Babe Ruth and Early Wynn Autographed Baseball (Great Documentation) (PSA/DNA)

Early Wynn came into his own after being traded to the Indians, and by 1951 had his first 20-win season. He went on to chalk up exactly 300 victories and 2334 strikeouts on his way to the Hall of Fame in 1972. This cream colored Reach OAL Harridge baseball shows even overall toning, with the Harridge and Reach stamped panels having faded. It is signed in ballpoint on the sweet spot "Early Wynn Jr." The signature grades a 9. Babe Ruth has signed the side panel in fountain pen, with the signature grading a strong 8. The ball was first signed by Early Wynn circa 1946-1947 while with the Washington Senators. The ball was given to our consignor's mother by Wynn himself, who was a classmate of hers. On March 17, 1948, Babe Ruth was on tour and stopped by a Sanford, Florida youth baseball game in which our consignor was competing. Upon seeing the Wynn ball, Ruth commented that Wynn "was going to be a very good pitcher," and proceeded to sign the ball himself. Two tremendous all-time great Hall of Famers on this ball. Accompanied by a LOA from Jimmy Spence of PSA/DNA. Also included are two photos of Babe Ruth at the Sanford signing, as well as a letter from our consignor attesting to the history of the ball. Tremendous opportunity to own this rare signed baseball with two legendary Hall of Famers and great provenance. Reserve $5,000

Circa 1940s Framed Rockford Peaches AAGPBL Girl's Baseball Schedule with Autographs (PSA/DNA)

Chicago Cubs owner William Wrigley, hoping to keep up interest in baseball during WWII, founded the All-American Girls Professional Baseball League (AAGPBL) in 1943. The league lasted until 1954, some of the coaches being HOFers Jimmie Foxx, Max Carey and Dave Bancroft. This 13-1/2" x 21-1/2" re-issued 1940s cardboard schedule (shows some creasing) for the Rockford Peaches has been signed, inscribed and dated 1988 by three of the league's greats: "Left Hohlmyer, Kenosha Comets, 1946-1951, HOF '88," "Marge Wenzell, South Bend Blue Sox, 1945-1953, HOF '88" and "Pepper Pairie Davis, All American Baseball, Racine Belles #7, 1945/53, HOF '88." Comes with a letter from Jimmy Spence of PSA/DNA. Reserve $500

Lot 593
1955 Turkey Stearnes Signed Report Card (PSA/DNA)

"Turkey" Stearnes spent his summers playing baseball for the Detroit Stars and his winters forging car parts in the industrial plants of the Motor City. One of the Negro League's all-time great power hitters, he is rumored to have averaged a home run once in every four at bats. His extremely rare signature is found here on the Detroit Public Schools report card that was used to track the educational progress of his daughter Rosilyn. He has signed it using his full legal name "Norman J. Stearnes" in nearly flawless blue ink, rating a 9. The report card measures 4" x 6" and shows minor wear, however, none affects his signature. Stearnes' death in 1979 and subsequent posthumous induction into baseballs Hall of Fame in 2000 have left autograph collectors with an extremely limited number of choices when pursuing his autograph. The placement of his signature on an item so personal as the report card of his daughter leaves no doubt about its validity and is akin to a personal check or signed contract. This autograph comes with a LOA from PSA/DNA. Reserve $250

Lot 594

Negro Leagues Autographed Jersey (PSA/DNA)

4-17-01 Barry Bonds 500th HR Game Unused Autographed Full Ticket (PSA/DNA)

In the bottom of the eighth inning, Barry Bonds slammed a 2-0 fastball from reliever Terry Adams into the McCovey Cove giving the Giants a 3-2 lead, an eventual victory, and a spectacular 500th career home run. This lot features a full, un-used autographed bleacher ticket (Sec 137 row 13 seat 5) from that memorable game at Pacific Bell Park. The ticket has been signed by Bonds in blue pen rating a near perfect 10. The ticket is graded in NRMT condition. Accompanied by a LOA from Jimmy Spence of PSA/DNA. Reserve $250

Barry Bonds Autographed Framed Balco Photo (PSA/DNA)

Framed to 18" x 21", this Balco "Creating Champions" made-up advertisement features Giants slugger Barry Bonds, who has the signed it in silver ink. A rare piece, ironic in that Balco is the laboratory that created and marketed the steroid-laced "sports cream" that Bonds used during his assault on the home record, with Bonds now denying that he knew that there were performance-enhancing steroids in the cream - "Creating Champions" indeed. The clear signature has a tiny smudge and grades a 9 overall. Accompanied by a LOA from Jimmy Spence of PSA/DNA, a Bonds certificate and a photo of Bonds signing the piece. Reserve $250

Cy Young Signed Receipt from Father's Estate & Related Photos (Ex-Halper Collection) (PSA/DNA)

Pitcher Denton True Young's pitching was known to be "fast as a cyclone." Shortened to "Cy" by the reporters of the day, the nickname stuck. He won 511 games in the Majors from 1890-1911. The annual award given to the best pitchers in each League is named after him. This is a 4" x 5" receipt handwritten and signed by Cy Young, which reads, "$500, August the 3rd 1921, Received from Mr. Young my father five hundred dollars as legacy, D.T. Young" with Young's signature. Also included are a newspaper clipping upon his death, a newspaper box score, two snapshot photos of a retired Young at home and an 80th birthday postcard. Accompanied by a letter from Jimmy Spence of PSA/DNA. Reserve $1,000

Lot 599

1912 Boston Red Sox Pennant
(Very Rare)

Led by HOFers Tris Speaker and Harry Hooper, the 1912 Boston Red Sox defeated the New York Giants to win their first of four World Series in seven years; after 1918, they would not win another until 2004. This rare 23" pennant is made of red felt with a Red Sox pitcher and "1912 Champions" on the left. In fantastic condition for its age, tassels intact, there are three tiny holes on the upper left corner and mild staining on the center and right. Manufactured by The Henry Schwartz Company, New York. Reserve $750

One of the most prominent photographers of the early 20th century, Boston's own Carl Horner was well known for his famous portraits of baseball stars. In fact, his portraits are featured in many of the T206 tobacco cards of the era. This 43" panoramic photo of his is of the 1912 World Champion Boston Red Sox, and has been matted and framed to 49" x 14-1/2". Members of the team include HOFers Tris Speaker and Harry Hooper, as well as the infamous Eddie Cicotte. There are two 4" diagonal tears in the center of the photo, but no paper loss. The left side of the photo shows two vertical creases and some water staining and fading, but the players are still clearly visible. Additionally, there is a tiny area of paper loss on the lower left side, which has been partially filled in with pencil and green ink. Reserve $1,250

Lot 601

1915 Boston Red Sox World Championship Framed Leather

With a record of 101-50, the 1915 Boston Red Sox beat the Phillies in five games to win the World Series. Led by HOFer Tris Speaker, Harry Hooper and Herb Pennock, the Sox would win two more championships in the next three years (1916, 1918) before the long drought which ended only last year. This extremely rare large format 22" x 24" leather premium commemorates the Sox' 1915 World Championship and has been framed to 36" x 38". In the center is a large photographic image of the World Series squad, underneath which is printed "Red Sox, World Champions 1915". There are portraits on the corners of Speaker, Hooper, Bill Carrigan and Duffy Lewis. Premiums were issued in exchange for coupons included with tobacco products in the early 20th century, a time when there was much competition between the tobacco companies, and advertising was important in attracting new customers and building brand loyalty. Large leathers such as this one with fringed edges are said to have been used, among other things, as pillow covers. This leather is in fantastic shape for its age. The print side is fully finished, with even overall cracking and rippling throughout which only partially affects a few of the players' faces.

There are a few tiny daubs of white paint on the corner portraits, apparently added for contrast. A gorgeous example of early memorabilia! Reserve $2,500

1905 World Series Framed Photo Supplement

Framed 42" x 14" black and white photograph from the 1905 World Series between the Philadelphia Athletics and New York Giants at the famed Polo Grounds. Lot 603

1906 Chicago White Sox World Championship Mirror (EX-Halper)

The third World Series to be played, the 1906 fall classic featured two teams from the same city - the Chicago White Sox and Cubs. Despite hitting only .198, the White Sox pulled off a major upset and won the Series in six games. The Cubs, of course, only batted .196. This is a vintage 18" x 18" commemorative mirror display, almost 100 years old, featuring the White Sox 1906 World Series Championship. It is made of three wooden boards attached together, covered with copper plate that wraps around. The copper has been hammered and molded to show a 2" border of baseballs surrounding two White Sox shields, a baseball bat design and a "World Champions 1906" banner. In the center is an 8" x 8" square mirror mounted as a baseball diamond, which appears to be a newer replacement. Three corners have apparent drill holes, ostensibly for mounting. In overall EXMT condition. Reserve $1,000

Lot 624
Fenway Park Piece of the Green Monster

One of the most storied baseball parks in the country and home to the Boston Red Sox, Fenway Park has seen its share of history. With the likes of Cy Young, Babe Ruth, Ted Williams, Carlton Fisk and now Pedro and Nomar having graced its playing field, Fenway is undeniably one of the most special places that baseball has left to call its own. Through the years, Fenway has undergone numerous renovation projects while retaining many of its idiosyncrasies including its peculiar shape. The most recent change came before the 2003 season when a portion of the Green Monster in left field was removed in order to make room for wall-top seats. This lot offers a 100 by 23 inch piece of Fenway that was adjacent to the Green Monster and had to be removed in order to construct the current seats. It is original Fenway green and is in very good condition. Please be aware that shipping will be costly due to size and is the responsibility of the lucky winner.

Lot 626

Brooklyn Dodgers Ebbets Field Large Demolition Sign

Built on top of the Pigtown garbage dump, opened on April 9, 1913 and named after Dodgers owner Charles Ebbets, the historic ballpark in Flatbush, Brooklyn named Ebbets Field has become part of the mythology and folklore of baseball. Ebbets Field epitomizes what many feel is the "lost America," a simpler time when baseball was baseball and heroes were home grown. Forever vilified in Brooklyn hearts is Dodgers owner Walter O'Malley, who moved the team to Los Angeles after the 1957 season. The beloved ballpark was demolished on February 23, 1960. This large wooden 47 1/2" diameter round sign hung outside the demolition site at Ebbets Field. It has the shape and appearance of a two-dimensional baseball, with gray border and blue "stitching." In blue letters is painted on the face, "Demolition by Harry Avirom Inc., 10-11 38' Ave. L.I.C. - RA.9-0559." There are several mounting bolt holes around the edge of this rare and historic piece, as well as some minor chipping all around. There is also some bronze colored spray paint on the face, possibly graffiti or the result of demolition action. Reserve $500

Detroit Tigers Navin Field Seat

Tigers Stadium, which closed in 1999, was known as Navin Field from 1912-1937. Named after owner Frank Navin, the park opened on the same day as Fenway Park in Boston. This vintage wood and iron frame seat comes from that storied ballpark. Both the frame and wood have been painted green, and appears to have been repainted since its manufacture. Shows great use; several chips and dents on the wood, with some rusting on the lower base. Reserve $150

Lot 629

Circa 1950s Fenway Park Double Stadium Seats

Circa 1950s double stadium seats from historic Fenway Park, measuring approximately 32" high x 38" wide. These wood and iron seats were originally red and have been repainted blue, with the numbers "8" (Carl Yastrzemski) and "9" (Ted Williams) stenciled in white on the front of the seat backs. They show some use and wear, and are in overall EXMT condition. Reserve $250

Lot 630

Early 1950s Boston Braves Stadium Seat

This vintage iron and wood seat comes from Braves Field in Boston, where the Braves played for 37 years from 1915-1952. Originally green but painted over in blue no earlier than 1947, the seat shows great use with wood chipping and abrasions throughout. There is a white number "15" painted on the upper curved back. Several of the bolts that hold the wood planks in place appear to be newer replacements. Reserve $250

Lot 627

Vintage Yankee Stadium Turnstile

This vintage Yankee Stadium turnstile from yesteryear has a silver colored top with three banded accents, and is made of blue cast iron. On the front is stenciled "21" in white lettering, the manufacturer's plaque on top reads "Perey New York." Standing 38" tall, the piece shows some scratching and abrasions, which is to be expected as hundreds of thousands of Yankees fans must have passed through it over the years. The flat bottom base shows rust with some small holes having been eaten away, otherwise a very attractive piece of history. Reserve $1,000

Lot 631

1909 Pittsburgh Forbes Field
First Game Framed Panorama

1992 Toronto Blue Jays World Series Trophy (Front Office)

The 1992 World Series saw the Toronto Blue Jays defeat the Atlanta Braves (their second World Series loss in a row) in six games. This was both the first Canadian appearance and the first Canadian victory in the World Series. Having lost Game One to a Tom Glavine four hitter, the Jays evened the Series with an Ed Sprague ninth inning home run. The Jays took a 3-1 Series lead before Atlanta won Game Five with a Lonnie Smith Grand Slam, bringing the Series back to Atlanta. The Jays prevailed in Game Six to win the Series however, led by World Series MVP Dave Winfield's tie-breaking two run homer in the 11th inning. This 1992 World Series trophy was presented to Paul Markle, the Director of Marketing for the Blue Jays. Just over a foot tall at the highest flag, the trophy features a gold crown atop an arc centerpiece over a silver baseball, surrounded by 26 gold flags with black lettering on stanchions, one for each Major League team. 1875 Framed Pioneer Award Presented to Alexander Cartwright (The Inventor of Baseball)
 Founded by pre-Gold Rush pioneers (arriving in California before 1850), The Society of California Pioneers exists today to preserve and promote California heritage. This oversized framed certificate measures 25-1/2" x 31-1/2" and was presented to pioneer Alex J. Cartwright on April 13, 1875, certifying him as a member who arrived in July 1849. Cartwright's true pioneering accomplishment was not in California, however; he, not Abner Doubleday as is widely believed, is enshrined in the Hall of Fame as the inventor of baseball. The blank certificates were made by Nahl Bros., Lithographers (San Francisco), this one has been personalized to Cartwright and has been signed by Vice President D.J. Staples (a founding member) and the Secretary Louis Lull. In tremendous condition for its age, shows minimal overall wear. This is an extremely rare opportunity to acquire an item that was personally owned by the father of baseball. Reserve $500

1927-1929 Lucky Strike Oversized Advertising Display (Ex-Halper Collection)

Extremely rare oversized 45" tall x 63" wide baseball-themed Lucky Strike tobacco advertising tri-fold display, dating circa 1927-1929. The display is entirely hand painted canvas on cardboard and features 36 packs of Lucky Strike (green) cigarettes circling a rendition of Hall of Fame baseball players Harry Heilmann, Tony Lazzeri and Lefty Grove in the center, as well as a pack each on the side panels which feature renditions of Hall of Famers Lloyd and Paul Waner. The only years that all five of these players were active in the Majors at the same time were 1927, 1928 and 1929. Lucky Strike changed from their traditional green packaging to a white color circa 1940-1941, as the chromium needed for green dye was needed for the war effort. The original cigarette packs that were affixed to this display have been replaced by the commemorative green Luckies that were produced in 1986 in honor of 70 years of production, and are in MINT condition. In the center of the cigarette packs is the familiar red Lucky Strike bulls eye with "Lucky Strike Cigarette" in gold lettering, surrounded by varying bands of gold, black, yellow, red and black. Around the center bulls eye are renditions of baseball players as follows: on the left is Harry Heilmann in Tigers cap, swinging the bat, below whom is written in black letters "Harry Heilmann, Detroit Tigers, World's Leading Hitter, Batting Average 396%." In the center is Tony Lazzeri in Yankees cap, fielding a ball, below whom is written in black letters "Tony Lazzeri, New York Yankees." On the right is Lefty Grove in A's cap, throwing a ball, below whom is written in black letters "Bob 'Lefty' Grove, Star Pitcher, Philadelphia Athletics." On the bottom of the center panel is a yellow panel with black lettering that reads, "You too - will find Lucky Strikes give Greatest Pleasure, Mild - Mellow - Finest Cigarette you ever smoked, Made of Choice Tobaccos, The Cream of the Crop, It's Toasted, No Throat Irritation - No Cough." The side panels both have green borders and "The Cream of the Crop" in black lettering on the bottom, and feature the Waner brothers as follows: on the left panel is Lloyd Waner in Pirates cap stretching to catch a ball, in green letters it reads "Lloyd Waner, Pittsburgh 'Pirates'" and in black letters it reads "Luckies fine flavor is enjoyable...and they never cut my wind." On the right panel is Paul Waner in Pirates cap swinging the bat, in green letters it reads "Paul Waner, Pittsburgh 'Pirates'" and in black letters it reads "Luckies give me pleasure without taxing my wind or irritating my throat." The condition is as follows: the piece shows evidence of partial restoration. There is some discoloration on the lower quarter. There is some minor fading on the center bulls eye and players. The entire piece has been clear-coated. There is some small paint and coating chipping throughout, as well as some cracking, especially on the lower left portion of the right panel where it attaches to the center panel. There is also some tape residue on this and the adjoining section. Overall, this piece is in fantastic condition for its age, given its ephemeral nature. Finally, the entire display has been attached to a larger 48" x 68" piece of cardboard. This item will be expensive to ship. Reserve $5,000

1965 Bill Russell Boston Celtics Game-Used Home Jersey

In his 13 NBA seasons, Bill Russell proved to be one of the greatest leaders that professional sports had ever seen. Easily the best defensive player ever, Russell's uncanny ability to anticipate opponents' moves and shots allow him to dominate the paint like few others have. His rebounding and quick outlet passes keyed the Celtics' offense, and led the Boston dynasty to 11 NBA Championships from 1957 to 1969. Those great Celtic teams included Hall of Famers Bob Cousy, Tom Heinsohn, Frank Ramsey, Bill Sharman, K.C. Jones, Sam Jones and John Havlicek, however Russell was the only player present for all eleven NBA titles. The 1968 and 1969 championships saw Russell leading both on and off the court as Player-Coach of the Celtics. Russell was named league MVP five times. His 4,104 rebounds is still an NBA career playoff record. Russell ranks second only to Wilt Chamberlain with 21,620 regular season career rebounds. A 12-time NBA All Star, Russell led the University of San Francisco to back-to-back NCAA titles in 1955 and 1956 and won a Gold Medal at the 1956 Olympics prior to joining the Celtics. Russell was named one of the 50 greatest players in NBA history in 1996, and was elected to the Basketball HOF in 1974. On the inside front tail of this dueren jerseys is the "Horace Partridge Athletic Goods" manufacturers tag with the jersey size "44" on it. On the inside back tail of the jersey is "6546" stamped in black ink. Across the front is "Celtics." Below that and on the back of the jersey is the player number "6." All lettering and numbering is done in green tackle twill. The jersey shows good game use and appears to have no alterations of any kind. Reserve $25,000

1973-74 John Havlicek Boston Celtics Game-Used Home Jersey

John Havlicek was easily the best sixth man in NBA history, adding firepower to the Boston Celtics' offense and defense during his 16 years with the team. During those years, Havlicek won eight championship rings, and he received NBA Finals MVP honors in 1974. He was the first player to score 1,000 points in each of 16 consecutive NBA seasons. It was for Havlicek's leadership and incredible endurance as much as for his scoring ability that legendary Celtics coach Red Auerbach called him "the guts of the team." "Hondo" was selected to play in 13 All-Star games and retired in 1978 as the Celtics all-time leading scorer with 26,395 points. Before turning professional, Havlicek was a member of the 1960 Ohio State NCAA Championship team. Named one of the 50 greatest players in NBA history in 1996,

Havlicek was elected to the Basketball HOF in 1984. On the left front tail of the jersey is the "Medalist Sand-Knit" manufacturers tag. Below that is an additional "Medalist Sand-Knit" manufacturers tag with wash instructions and the size "44" on it. Across the front of the jersey is "CELTICS." 1946-51 Tri-Cities Blackhawks NBL/NBA Warmup Jacket

One of the longest continually-operating franchises in professional basketball, the Tri-Cities Blackhawks are the ancestor of today's NBA Atlanta Hawks. The team began in 1946 as the Buffalo Bisons of the National Basketball League, however moved to the Tri-Cities (now the "Quad Cities") after only three games. Owned by one of professional basketball's founding fathers, Ben Kerner, the Blackhawks were one of the two NBL teams that season to break the color barrier by signing African-American players (HoFer Pop Gates). Led by HoFer Bobby McDermott and by center Don Otten, the Blackhawks were a solid contender in the NBL. When the NBL merged with the rival Basketball Association of America in 1949, Tri-Cities became part of the new NBA. During that first NBA season, one of the three coaches employed by the team was HoFer Red Auerbach. After two seasons, the team moved to Milwaukee and changed its name to the current "Hawks." The franchise moved again to St. Louis before settling in Atlanta in 1968. Offered in this lot is a Tri-Cities Blackhawks Warmup Jacket. 1962-63 Wilt Chamberlain San Francisco Warriors Game-Used Home Jersey (Letter From Ball Boy)

Dominating the game as few players in any sport have done, Wilt Chamberlain scored and rebounded at will despite being double- and triple-teamed. "Wilt the Stilt" re-wrote the NBA scoring records. Among his career accomplishments are the records for most 50+ point games, consecutive 40+ point and 30+ point and 20+ point games, and most points in a single game (100 in 1962 vs. the Knicks). Wilt is one of only two players to be named league MVP, All-Star Game MVP and NBA Rookie of the Year (1960). He was first in total points (31,419) until passed by Kareem Abdul-Jabbar, and in scoring (30.1 points per game) until passed by Michael Jordan. Wilt still holds the NBA career records for rebounds (23,924 total and 22.9 rebounds per game) and minutes played per game (45.8). In the 1962-63 season with the Warriors, Wilt led the league in minutes, field goals attempted, field goals made and field goal percentage, rebounds (total and per game), points, and scoring (44.8 points per game). A 13-time All-Star, he was named one of the 50 greatest players in NBA history in 1996. Chamberlain was elected to the Basketball HoF in 1978. On the inside back collar of the jersey is a small manufacturers tag with the jersey size "44" on it. Across the front of the jersey is "SAN FRANCISCO." Below that and on the back of the jersey is the player number "13." All lettering and numbering is done in yellow on blue tackle twill. The jersey shows good game use with worn letters and some loose threads. The jersey appears to have no alterations of any kind. The jersey is accompanied by a letter from the team ball boy stating Wilt removed the manufacturers tags in his jerseys. Reserve $10,000

Circa 1968 Joe Namath NY Jets Game-Used & Autographed White Jersey (PSA/DNA)

White Game-Used jerseys are very rare. With his signing by the New York Jets in 1965, Joe Namath gave the young American Football League instant credibility, and the strength to eventually merge with the older NFL. With his charisma and flamboyant style, "Broadway Joe" was a public relations dream for the Jets and the AFL. Namath was not just appearance but also performed on the field. His greatest season was in 1968. When the Jets faced the Oakland Raiders in the AFL Championship Game, Namath stepped up and threw three TD passes to lead New York to victory. Entering Super Bowl III against the Baltimore Colts, the Jets were big underdogs. Namath once again provided the effort and leadership for New York. In a superior performance, he threw for 206 yards and the Jets upset the Colts 16-7. Namath was named MVP of the Super Bowl. In 13 seasons he recorded over 27,000 yards passing and threw 173 touchdowns. Namath was elected to the Pro Football HoF in 1985. On the outside bottom of the back tail flap of the jersey is the "Medalist Sand-Knit" manufacturers tag with wash instructions and the jersey size "50" on it. Adjacent to that is the "Thorpe Sporting Goods" distributors tag. On the front and back of the jersey is the player number "12" in green tackle twill. On each sleeve of the jersey is the player number "12" in white tackle twill. Across the back of the jersey is "NAMATH" in green tackle twill. There is an autograph in black marker rating a strong 8 on the back of the jersey below the player number. The jersey shows excellent game use with dirt, blood and sweat stains. The jersey appears to have no alterations of any kind. Accompanied by a LOA from Jimmy Spence of PSA/DNA. Reserve $10,000

Circa 1986 Joe Montana San Francisco 49ers Game-Used Helmet

Many football experts view Joe Montana as the best quarterback to ever play the game and it is tough to argue against that notion. Montana led the San Francisco 49ers to four Super Bowl titles, garnering MVP in three of those games, was selected to eight Pro Bowls and placed fourth all-time in both passing yards and touchdown passes following his retirement in 1994. Aside from his innate ability to find the open receiver, Montana was also known for his consistency. In fact, the former Notre Dame star led the 49ers to a first-place finish in the NFC West every year except for two from 1981-1990. This Bike San Francisco helmet has the "49ers" stickers on each side. On the inside left ear of the helmet is "16" in black marker. The helmet has the original foam padding and webbing and chinstrap. CREDIT DEPT.
BEFORE BIDDING

One of the greatest Defensemen to play his position, Eddie Shore was an imposing blend of talent and intimidation. His end to end rushes became as famous as his crushing bodychecks. Shore broke in with the Bruins in 1926-27, and helped them to their first Stanley Cup in 1929. Shore was named to the NHL's All Star First Team Defense seven times. He was awarded the Hart Trophy as the leagues MVP in 1933, 1935, 1936 and 1938 - the only Defenseman to receive this honor four times. Shore's leadership and stamina were primary reasons behind Boston's success in 1939, when he led the Bruins to seven playoff victories against the Rangers and the Maple Leafs, capturing the Stanley Cup. After his NHL career, he became a team owner and one of the driving forces in the AHL. The annual award for the best Defenseman in the AHL is named the Eddie Shore Plaque. Shore was elected to the Hockey HoF in 1947. On the inside back left tail of the sweater is the "Horace Partridge" manufacturers tag with the sweater size "44" on it. On the front and back of the sweater is the player number "2" done in black on yellow felt. On each sleeve is the "Bruins B" done in black on yellow felt. The sweater shows good game use with repairs by the team to fix tears on the left shoulder, both sleeves and lower back of the sweater. There appears to be no alterations of any kind. Reserve $25,000

Early 1970s Bobby Orr NHL All Star Game-Used Sweater

One of the greatest players ever to lace on a pair of skates, Bobby Orr revolutionized the game of hockey. He was the first to show a defenseman could be an offensive player. Orr coupled rock-solid defensive skills with quick rushes up-ice. Debuting with the Boston Bruins in 1966, he quickly made his presence felt, winning 1967 NHL Rookie of the Year honors. The following year, Orr became the first defenseman to win the NHL scoring title. He went on to record six consecutive seasons with 100 points or more, and was named the Hart Trophy winner as the NHL MVP three times. Orr was also a fixture on the Bruins' penalty-killing unit, where his superb skating skills showed clearly. Orr was named to the NHL All-Star team and was awarded the Norris Trophy as the league's best Defenseman eight straight years. Orr led the Bruins to their first modern Stanley Cup in 1970 and was named MVP of the play-offs. In 1979, Bobby Orr was elected to the Hockey HoF. On the inside back neck of the sweater is the "Gerry Cosby" manufacturers tag with wash instructions. Adjacent to that is an additional manufacturers tag with the sweater size "48" on it. On the front center of the sweater is the official "NHL" embroidered logo patch. On the left and right breast is the official "NHL" embroidered logo patch on a star done in white on black tackle twill. Along the bottom of the front and the back of the sweater are three stars done in white on black tackle twill. On each shoulder is the official "NHL" logo done in black and orange on white tackle twill. Across the back is "ORR" in black on white tackle twill. Below that and on each sleeve is the player number "4" in black on white tackle twill. Below the number on each sleeve is a star done in white on black tackle twill. The sweater shows game use and appears to have no alterations of any kind.

Late 1970s Bobby Hull Chicago Blackhawks Game-Used Jersey

Bobby Hull's career left indelible marks on the game of hockey, not the least of which was his blistering slapshot, measured at an astounding 120 mph. Hull introduced the curved stick, giving greater puck-handling control and to put greater velocity on their shots. After entering the league in 1957-58, the "Golden Jet" led the Blackhawks to their first Stanley Cup Championship in 23 years in 1961. The next year Hull became only the third player in NHL history to record more than 50 goals in a single season - a feat he would accomplish four more times in his NHL career. In 1965-66 he set the record for most goals in a season with 54 and rewrote the record in 68-69 with 58 goals. As an NHL player with the Chicago Blackhawks for 14 years, Hull was awarded the Hart Trophy as the league's MVP twice. In 1972, Hull signed with the Winnipeg Jets of the rival WHA. In a 23-year professional career, Hull scored 1,809 points and had four seasons in which he scored 50 or more goals, including one where he scored 77. On the inside back collar of the sweater is the "Gunzo's Sports Center Inc." tag. Across the front of the sweater is the official "Blackhawks Indian Head" embroidered logo patch. On the right breast is the Assistant Captain's "A" letter in black tackle twill. On both sleeves is the official "Blackhawk Tomahawk C" embroidered logo patch. Below that on both sleeves, and on the back of the sweater is the player number "9" in black twill. The sweater shows good game use with the manufacturers tag partially detached due to wear. There appears to be no alterations of any kind.

Framed 1967 Ali vs Folley Fight Poster (Only Two Known) (Last Fight as Champion)

Muhammad Ali was stripped of his hard-won heavyweight title in 1967 after refusing induction into the U.S. Army during the Vietnam War. His last fight as Champion took place at Madison Square Garden on March 22, 1967, when he beat Zora Folley by TKO in the 7th round. It would be Ali's last fight in the ring for over three years. This was of course unbeknownst at the time, leaving this as one of only two known historic posters from that fight, framed to 23" x 29". Poster is heavily creased down the center and shows some corner wear, taking nothing away from this ultra rare poster. Printed by the Murray Poster Printing Company in New York, as indicated on the lower right. Also has the Distributors Union Label stamp on the right center. Reserve $1,000

Mr. Alberto Oliva
Editorial Atlantida
720 Fifth Avenue
Suite 602
New York, New York 10019

Re: Muhammad Ali/Editorial Atlantida

Dear Mr. Oliva:

The purpose of this letter is to set forth the understanding which has been reached between Muhammad Ali ("Ali") and Editorial Atlantida ("Sponsor") with regard to services which Ali will provide to Sponsor's subsidiary, El Grafico Magazine, in Buenos Aires, Argentina on Saturday, May 19 and Sunday, May 20, 1979. The understanding is set forth in the following seven numbered paragraphs.

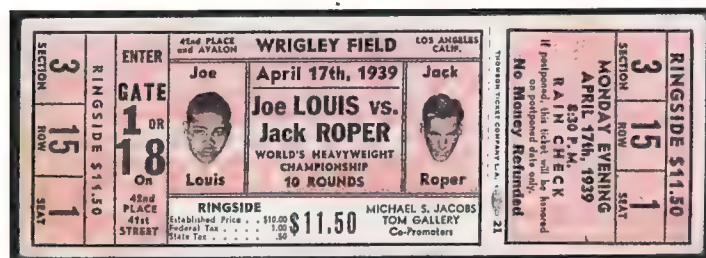

1. Ali agrees to provide Sponsor with his services as follows:

Ali and a party of three additional persons (tentatively Mr. George Thomas, Mr. Leonard Mounghay, and Mrs. Veronica Ali) will be available in Atlantic City, New Jersey at 8:30 p.m. on the evening of Friday, May 18, 1979 to board a helicopter which will take them to John F. Kennedy Airport in New York in time to board a flight departing approximately 10:15 p.m. and arriving Buenos Aires at approximately 3:05 p.m. on the afternoon of Saturday, May 19, 1979.

Upon arrival in Buenos Aires, Ali will participate in a meeting with the press of Argentina which will last approximately one hour, after which Ali and party will be driven to their hotel (the Buenos Aires Sheraton) where they will be given a chance to rest and freshen up. On Saturday evening, Ali and his party will attend the championship fight between Frazier and Jones during which Ali will be introduced to the crowd, sign autographs, etc.

1947 Babe Didrikson British Ladies Amateur Championship Irons 2-9 (7)

Offered in this lot are a set of Babe Didrikson Zaharias engraved Wilson "Dyna-Weight" Manufactured irons (2-9i). These "blade-style" irons were used by Babe to win the 1947 British Ladies Amateur Championship. According to the accompanying LOAs, these irons were given to the daughter of Aniela Goldthwaite who was an amateur golfer during the 1930s through the 1950's. Mrs. Goldthwaites' promoter was Mrs. Bertha Bowen, surrogate mother and life-long friend of Babe Didrikson. Over the years, Babe became close personal friends with Mrs. Goldthwaite and her daughter Frances, often going shopping with her, and teaching her how to play golf. After Babe won the 1947 British Ladies Amateur Championship, she gave the clubs to Frances circa. 1952 so she could practice her swing. Babe told Frances when giving her the clubs "hit only with the three iron and when you can do that, you can hit any of the rest". The irons show good use but have not been damaged in any way giving them an overall condition of EX. These clubs are accompanied by two LOAs from Aniela Goldthwaite and a LOA from her daughter, Frances Goldthwaite. Reserve $2,500

1905-1920s Era Tennis Rackets (5)

The Cadet decals, original red spiral nylon string, and plastic accent wrappings are all very good. There is slight wear to the electric blue shaft. The Simmons is a 1920s model with bright green gut that is strung in the "English style". The throat features a complete Simmons baseball diamond in gold. The 1925 George Wright model is named after a famous professional cricket and baseball player. This rare model has original gut strung in the "English style". The shoulders have been retouched in the original color to enhance appearance. The E. Kent (ca. 1905) is a semi-flat top racket. The original gut has one loose string. The butt cap and strap were replaced (not original but in excellent condition). The Lenox (ca. 1911) was an outstanding junior racket. The condition is excellent with great logos, laminated convex wedge, and three small breaks on the original gut string. This was a top of the line model that was exceptionally well constructed. Reserve $150

Group of Five 1920-1950 Tennis Rackets (5)

This racquet lot includes the slotted throat Monogram (ca. 1940), the International (ca. 1950), the Dreadnought Driver (ca. 1948), the Forty (ca. 1920) and the Eighty (ca. 1930). The Monogram has a beautiful wood color with excellent decals. The International features a Soviet flag on the throat logo and has original green string with a very slight loss of decal on the shaft. The Forty was manufactured by the Narragansett Standard Machine Co. The logos, green and natural gut, orange leather butt cap and strap are all excellent. The quality of the "Live Wood" construction is superb. The Eighty was also manufactured by the Narragansett Standard Machine Co. It features a thin shaft with a large Phillips head screw and original unbroken string. The gold Narragansett logo is still beautifully intact.

Lot of Eight 1916-1940s Vintage Tennis Rackets (8)

This Tennis lot features eight wooden tennis racquets (Kantwarp, American Beauty, Young Champ, Youth, Pacemaker, Winton, The Bat, Hermis), all from the first half of the 20th century. The Kantwarp (ca. 1920) was patented by J.J. Curley, constructed with very unusual vulcanized rubber inserts and overlays. The frame is in excellent condition (No string) with exceptionally elongated head and fine patina. The American Beauty (ca. 1930) is virtually unused with pristine original gut, large throat screw and perfect decals. The Wilson Young Champ is a 1940s frame with red nylon gut matching the red grip. The logos are very good and the patina is excellent. The Youth (ca. 1916) is a rare hickory frame with convex wedge, original red gut (multiple breaks), and very good decals. This racquet comes with its original brown cloth case. The Pacemaker is a 1940s MacGregor model that features a vivid silver/blue shoulder and throat area, very good logos, butt cap and original strings. The Winton is another MacGregor 1940s model racket that was ideal for Women and Juniors. It has good logos and original string. The taped handle which was wrapped by the owner, was commonly seen before the invention of the modern type grip-wrap. The Bat is a 1920s model that features the Lee "slotted throat" and a replica autograph of Vincent Richards, Olympic champion and youngest winner of the U.S. National Men's Doubles. The Black Bat logo is excellent and there is one break in the original red and natural gut. The Hermis (ca. 1930) features a diagonally strung gut. The original green and gold gut matches the accent wrappings for a stunning appearance. The logos, wrappings, butt cap and strap are all in excellent condition. Reserve $150

Lot 1187
1926 Aerial League of America "Winged America Award" Statue Presented to Aeronautical Pioneer Alfred Lawson

Aeronautical pioneer Alfred Lawson (1869-1954) was a true American eccentric: he was a professional baseball player, a aircraft industry pioneer, an advocate of economic reform, a self-made businessman and the inventor of his own religion (Lawsonomy). As a young man, he played professional baseball for the 1890 Boston Beaneaters (today's Atlanta Braves) and Pittsburgh Alleghenys (today's Pirates). Legendary HOFer 1890 Cap Anson said of him, "their center fielder was a lad named Al Lawson. When they called Lawson in to the pitching mound, [he] held my crew scoreless, and his team earned back 5 runs. Moreover, he had two hits at bat. Five days later, we played against Lawson again, and only scored one run against him in seven innings." Having moved into aeronautics after baseball and foreshadowing the famous American general Billy Mitchell by almost a decade, Lawson testified to Congress, "time has now arrived for this Nation to start the construction of a great aerial fleet, both for offensive and defensive purposes." A true visionary, Lawson holds the distinction of building the world's first commercial airliner ("The Lawson Airliner") created specifically for carrying passengers in luxury and comfort, and was the protagonist of the modern airline industry. This heavy solid bronze base statue which stands almost two feet tall was presented to Lawson in 1926 and is best described by Francis Atkinson, a pilot in Lawson's employ at the time, "At that moment, Alfred Lawson himself walked into the office and strode over to us, plunking a statuette down on the desk on top of the blueprints. It was a brass bust of a goggled pilot with [wooden] wings coming out of his ears. 'I'm back from New York, boys,' Lawson announced. 'There it is, the Winged America award, just today presented to me by the Aerial League of America!' 'What for?' I asked. 'My past accomplishments, to start with,' Lawson boasted. 'But most of all for the development of the Lawson Superairliner...' Such recognition would be a big selling point to prospective investors [for his airliners], as indeed it proved to be." On the front face of the statue base in raised letters is embossed "Winged America, America Gave Wings To The World" with raised pilot's wings and laurel crown. On the right face is embossed "The Lafayette Escadrille: Norman Prince, William Thaw...and other brave Americans who went over to pay America's debt to France." The Lafayette Escadrille was made up of American fighter pilots who flew under the French flag before the United States' entry into WWI. On the left face is embossed, "Pioneers and Master Builders of American Aviation, Orville Wright, Wilbur Wright, Glenn N. Curtiss..." etc. On the back face is embossed, "First Americans to fight in British Air Forces..." [with names], First U.S. Army and Navy Aviators to lose their lives over seas after America's entry in the war... [with names]." There is a "Cl. B" stamped on the top of the base behind the head. Painted in a dark green, some brass has worn through on the corners and edges, as well as on the helmet. A unique piece of deep historical significance. Reserve $2,500

Lot 1200

Circa 1901 Edison Home Phonograph (Cylinder Type)

Vintage Edison Home Phonograph, appears to be an early version of the "new style" Model A, which replaced the "suitcase" style of 1896. Serial number H46359 with last patent date of May 1, 1898, plays two-minute cylinders. The bright decal with red printing is a carryover from the decal used on the top lid of earlier models. This style lasted only a few months before the banner was replaced with black letters. Seam is loose on the top lid, has the shaver and reproducer (no needle) and also includes part of a Model C reproducer. Sans drive belt, crank and horn, the top wood has split near the hinge, so the top must be lifted off to expose the motor. Reserve $250

Lot 1201

1933 West Point Cadet Dress Grey
 Military Uniform

This is a full 1933 West Point dress grey cadet's uniform, consisting of jacket, trousers and cap. This traditional uniform, still worn today, was patterned after U.S. military uniforms worn during the war of 1812, specifically to honor the 22nd Infantry at the Battle of Chippewa, the first regular formation to defeat a superior British force. The swallow-tailed jacket has black silk core on the breast, herringbone cuffs and coat-tails, and three rows of gilt bullet buttons, all made by hand in the Cadet Store Tailor Shop. The collar tag has a hand written date of "10-31-33." The trouser tag has a handwritten date of "6-16-34." Also included is the "tarbucket" hat with black ("firstie") cockade and a red, white and blue feather plume. Lot 1210

1940s-1950s Vintage Dow Jones News Ticker Machine

Perhaps no other invention captures the spirit of America's unprecedented growth in the 20th century like the ticker tape machine. Five years after completing the first transcontinental telegraph line, Western Union introduced the first stock ticker in 1866, and within a few decades it was perfected by Thomas Edison. Evolving from these first bubble-topped machines were the teletype and news ticker. Financial copy from reporters arrived on these machines, copy editors marked up paper with pencils, rewrote paragraphs on manual typewriters, used rulers to tear out sections of copy and then taped everything back together. Conveyor belts carried copy around the newsroom, and pneumatic tubes transported articles between floors.

This is a fine and very rare example of a Dow Jones news ticker, dating from the 1940s-1950s. Standing four feet tall and made of copper colored metal, the side opens up for the insertion of paper. On the front is a black and gold plaque that reads "Dow-Jones, The Wall Street Journal." The felt-lined glass and metal domed lid through which the news stories fed is removable, and you can still smell the ribbon ink and gear oil remnants! The wire on the back has been clipped. These machines became obsolete in the late 1960s. In fantastic condition, the machine shows light, even overall wear, with some scuffing on the base. This item will be expensive to ship.

Lot 1211

1947 Mills Hi Top Jewel Bell Mechanical Slot Machine

This is a 1947 vintage Mills Jewel Bell mechanical slot machine, from their "Hi Top" series.

Manufactured by the "Mills Bell-O-Matic Corporation" which was spun off from the parent "Mills Novelty Company" in 1947 to specialize in slot machines. This model accepts quarters, which is the more desirable and rarer configuration, as the older "copper clad" lower-denomination coins had rougher edges and were prone to scratch the internal mechanisms or jam the machine. The interior is all-original and the slot machine works perfectly. The exterior appears to have been beautifully restored and repainted (red, blue and black paint with nickel accents). The machine is extremely heavy and measures over 13" deep x over two feet high x 14" across (not including the arm). It is mounted to a 15" x 16" wood base. Shipping will be expensive for this item. Reserve $500

Lot 1212

Circa 1910 Coney Island Carousel Motorcycle with Tickets

Although carousels have been around in one form or another since the early days of the Byzantine Empire (circa 500 A.D.), they reached their greatest fame during their short "Golden Period" in America in the first few decades of the 1900s. Most prolific at the famed Coney Island, the Brooklyn amusement park boasts over 25 of them in its history. This wooden motorcycle was riding on a Coney Island carousel from the 1910s through approximately WWII. It is completely original, hand carved and has not been restored or repainted. It measures over 50" long and 33 1/2" tall, with intact padded leather seat, hammered tin rear fender and accents. It is bolted to a metal base with a 1 1/2" hole through the front wheel, where it would have been attached to the carousel pole. The manufacturer "Atha's" is painted in black letters on either side above the front fender. It is missing the front headlight mount and surrounding wood, but the headlight base and wiring is intact. There are several cracks and chips throughout this vintage piece. Once decommissioned, it was stored in the special Coney Island Amusement Repository where old rides were retired to. In storage for over 25 years, our consignor purchased it over 30 years ago directly from the Repository, which would occasionally sell stored items on the direct authority of Coney Island. The only other known motorcycle carousel dates from 1916 and is currently at Martha's Vineyard. Also included is a vintage 7 1/2" diameter roll of numbered 15 cent beige amusement ride tickets, a perfect match for this rare carousel motorcycle. Shipping will be expensive for this item. Reserve $1,000

Very Early 20th Century Koken Barber's Chair

Ernest Koken invented the first hydraulic barber chair in 1874 and produced many barber shop supplies in the late 1800s and early 1900s. Take a trip back to the "Olde" Barber Shop with this wonderful example that dates from the very early 20th century and is in fantastic condition for its age. Have a seat and be transported back to the days of the straight razor, leather strops, hot towels, shaving mugs and the old-fashioned haircut. All original, the full quarter sawn oak frame is beautifully sculpted and carved, including the four legs. Brown leather armrests with fancy rivets, sans headrest, cushioned brown leather reupholstered seat and back for ultimate comfort. Only a few button caps missing. The 44" tall, brass arm release for reclining is fully functional; all mechanics work. The footrests are made of wrought iron with elaborately designed leaves and vines. On the front wood panel is a plaque that reads "Jones Bros. & Co. Limited, Manufacturers, Toronto, Canada." In the center of the primary footrest amidst the vine pattern is molded "Koken Barbers' Supply Co., St. Louis, U.S.A., Patented." On the hinged extended footrest is molded "Koken." Reserve $1,000

1912 Souvay Copper Barber's Towel Steamer

Tremendous example of an old-time barber's towel steamer, this antique stands over 58" high and is in truly magnificent condition. The copper clad compartments stand on a white porcelain finished base. There are six pipes with gauges, valves and brass fittings, with threaded ends for water and gas feed and return. On top of the base and below the compartments is attached a burner plate below an iron heating element that protrudes downward from the water canister above. The bottom compartment has a ring of holes through which steam can escape. The hinged upper lid recedes into the spherical roof to expose the towel compartment, from which hot towels could be extracted. The condition of the clad copper is a joy to see, bright, shiny and practically unblemished with extremely minor wear. The brass plate on the towel compartment reads "J. Souvay Inc., Manufacturers of Barbers' Fixtures" with partial New York address. The brass plate on the bottom compartment reads "Notice, when sterilizer is in operation do not shut off cold water supply. Keep water level in upper compartment above arrow notch on gauge. Tested to 200 lbs. pressure, S. Blickman, New York, Patented Dec. 17, 1912." Reserve $500

Framed Norman Rockwell Personally
Owned Trial Proof Autographed
"Triple Self Portrait" (Great Documentation) (PSA/DNA)

Norman Rockwell is by far America's best known and most beloved artist. His paintings have preserved for posterity every fact of twentieth century American culture from the horse and buggy to the space age. Having attended art classes at The New York School of Art (1908), he later studied with artists Thomas Fogarty and George Bridgman at The Art Students League. His talent was apparent from an early age; having been commissioned to paint Christmas cards before the age of sixteen, by the age of 20 he was the art director of the Boy Scouts' publication "Boy's Life." Within a few years Rockwell had moved to the New Rochelle, NY and set up a studio where, with cartoonist Clyde Forsythe, he painted for magazines such as "Life" and "Country Gentleman." Rockwell's big break came in 1916, when he painted his first cover for the popular "Saturday Evening Post" which would become a showcase for his works. He would remain there for 47 years and 321 covers, acknowledged as the greatest American artist of his generation. Concurrently, he illustrated several editions of American classics such as "Tom Sawyer" and "Huckleberry Finn." Rockwell's themes were predominantly vignettes in space and time of purely American culture, and each has a story to tell. During WWII, he painted the famous "Four Freedoms" posters, symbolizing the war aims described in the speech by President Roosevelt that inspired him. Over the years, Rockwell painted several self-portraits, the most famous being his 1960 "Triple Self Portrait," which he painted at the age of 66. Rockwell published his autobiography "My Adventures As An Illustrator" the same year, in collaboration with his son Tom. The "Saturday Evening Post" printed excerpts from the book in a series, with the "triple Self Portrait" appearing on the first cover on February 13, 1960. This piece gives a deep insight into the mind and style of the artist. Rockwell gives a nod to his inspirations Rembrandt, Van Gogh and Picasso by "tacking" their self portraits to the upper right corner of his canvas. Multiple self portraits, of the Rockwell nature, are much rarer than single self portraits. The smoking bucket with tattered canvas remains on the lower right likely acknowledges his 1943 studio fire. This is a 31-1/2" x 23-1/2" (matted and framed to 40" x 33") artists proof lithograph of Rockwell's "Triple Self Portrait." The lithograph's full edition consisted of 200 signed and numbered prints with full margins on Arches (cotton rag) paper. Each was personally numbered on the lower left and signed on the lower right by Norman Rockwell. There were an additional 60 artists proofs and 25 deluxe artists proofs on Japon (rice) paper. They were distributed by two major publishers (100 each), most notably Abrams. What makes this one practically priceless is that it was personally owned and kept by Rockwell himself, in his own studio or abode. Impeccable documentation attests to this fact; the affidavit letter from the owner reads, "... (my Great Aunt) originally purchased 1 of 100 'Triple Self Portrait' a signed print offered by Abrams Publishing Company as part of a two piece offer that came with a leather-bound book...In the 1970s her condo sustained a fire that claimed both pieces. Because she personally knew Norman Rockwell and owned a magazine service company out of Chicago, Illinois, she asked Mr. Rockwell for a replacement print. In turn, Norman Rockwell (gave or sold her his trial proof of this edition) "Upon Aunt Gladys' death, the print was given to me through her estate. Enclosed...is a photograph taken by Aunt Gladys of the replacement print in her business office. Note that the date of the photograph [included] (May 1976) is prior to Mr. Rockwell's death (1978)..." The lithograph has been signed in pencil on the lower right, who added "Trial Proof" in his own hand on the lower left. Also accompanied by a LOA from Jimmy Spence of PSA/DNA. Reserve $5,000

Norman Rockwell
